Cemetery Of Old Bombs Is Found In Base Mudflats

Some Of The Vintage Devices May Be Potentially Explosive

The Air Force said today it has discovered a graveyard of old, 100-pound bombs, some assumed live, in mudflats believed to have been a former bombing range south of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Base officials, who have recovered three of the devices, estimated more than 175 bombs, of pre-World War II vintage, may be impacted in mud about 500 yards south of the base.

Although most of the devices are believed to be practice bombs without explosive capability, one of the recovered devices was live and has been detonated, according to the base information office.

Officials said the area in which the bombs were found has been placed off-limits as a precautionary measure.

The Coast Guard has warned boaters to stay out of the Hamilton Field Channel, with the off-limits area covering a radius of 1,200 yards.

An unidentified boy reported to base officials last week he saw something sticking out of the mudflats, but fog prevented an immediate search, the Air Force said.

Early this week, ordinance disposal crews checked the area and retrieved three "pre-World War II, 100-pound bombs," one live, the Air Force said.

The bombs are in an area where water is four to five feet deep, and aren't visible except at low tide.

Removal operations are expected to begin Monday when there is a zero tide, the Air Force reported.

A Navy ordinance disposal team from the Naval Weapons Station at Concord has been called in to direct removal operations, which are expected to continue Tuesday and Wednesday.

During low tide, bombs capable of being located will be marked with a flotation device so they can be removed when tides rise, the Air Force reported.

Live bombs will be detonated, possibly on the spot if they are in bad condition.

According to historic documents, the area was used as early as 1933, a year before the base opened, as a bombing and gunnery range.

One account from that period was that razorback hogs were eating the targets before pilots could drop their bombs.

There is also the possibility that the mudflat area had been designated as the place for pilots in air trouble to dump their ordnance, the Air Force said.

Nixon Wants Dock Strike Arbitration

Seeks Three-Man Board Emergency Legislation

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) —President Nixon today asked Congress for emergency legislation to force a settlement in the West Coast dock strike which he said has been "festering for over a year, because a few have been insensitive to the harm they are inflicting upon the many."

The President asked Congress to act upon his request no later than by the end of next week.

Nixon proposed that Congress give him the power to set up a three man arbitration board which would look into the merits of the dispute, and within 40 days dictate a settlement which would be binding upon all parties.

"Let there be no mistake about the urgency of this legislation," the President told Congress. "This is a vital matter to the people of this country and the nation can afford no delay." The President's proposed legislation was in the form of a joint resolution, instead of a noroal bill which might take longer for the Congress to consider. Nixon acknowledged in his message to Congress that "this is an unusually pressing request for the opening days of a new session."

But he said all efforts including personal intervention by the President and the use of an 80-day cooling off period by invoking the Taft-Hartley Act had failed to resolve the differences between the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and Pacific Coast maritime shippers.

The President said "no reasonable settlement" was in prospect. "Let there also be no mistake about the dimensions of destruction which this strike is wreaking upon its victims," he added.

The proposed legislation would make the arbitration board's findings binding on all parties to the dispute for 18 months and would prohibit any strikes or walkouts during that period.

The strikers would be forced to return to their jobs the moment the joint resolution reached the President's desk and before the arbitration board got to work.

Undersecretary of Labor Laurence B. Eilberman said he had been in contact with members of the labor committee in the Senate and House and that he had been promised early hearings on the proposal next week, but no commitment for action.

"I don't visualize a hangup," Silberman said. "It is inconceivable to me that the labor committees won't move quickly."

While refusing to assess blame in the dispute, Ronald L. Zeigler, President Nixon's press secretary, did say the President, who had personally intervened in the dispute last September in an attempt to get a settlement, had "sensed an unreasonable reluctance" on the part of one party to move towards a reasonable settlement. He identified that party as the ILWU.

The dockers' strike was resumed last Tuesday after the Taft-Hartley breathing spell had expired and renewed negotiations failed to produce a settlement.

Rat Mangles Kentfield Baby In Crib

Her father, Jerome Berg, an attorney, ran to her room and found the child bleeding from her head and hand. "My husband went in there and a rat ran out of the crib," said Berg's wife, Carol.

The child, seriously bitten by the rodent, was treated at a physician's office.

It was the first rat bite case reported in Marin this year, and county officials seized the incident to remind residents of an annual winter increase in rodent activity.

Mrs. Berg said her child was bitten "pretty badly. It chewed up the back of her head and her thumb and bit through her ear."

The rat believed to have attacked the child was caught later by exterminators called to the Berg home at 20 Quisisana Drive. It is in the hands of county officials for laboratory analysis.

Mrs. Berg said Rivka's crib is located in a new addition to the family home, "and the exterminator people feel it (the rat) came in either through a vent, because we had a refrigerator taken out, or possibly through a hole by the dishwasher."

"It's ridiculous to find a rat in Kentfield. It doesn't make any sense," Mrs. Berg said.

County officials today reported occasional cases of rat bitings, but said there was no reason to believe the rodent population is increasing. The number of resident complaints about rats, in fact, is decreasing, officials said.

"We've been talking with the county agricultural commissioner, trying to find out if we have any basis in the number of complaints, using as a yardstick the amount of bait the commissioner has dispensed this winter. There's been no increase in either dispensing of poison or the number of complaints," said county supervising sanitarian Maurice Harris.

"Annually at this time of year we have an increase in rodent activity — rats are seeking dry ground, so to speak," said Harris.

He said he believed rat complaints are caused by an increase in construction activity which disturbs rat burrows and makes them search for new homes.

Officials counted 105 complaints concerning rats in 1970; 86 last year, with five so far this year.

The most common rat in the county, Harris said, is the Rattus Norvegicus, or Norway rat, sometimes called the brown rat, the house rat or the sewer rat.

The roof rat, or Rattus Rattus Alexandrinus, is a different species and is a bitter enemy of the Norway rat. "Usually one species predominates," said Harris.

County Agricultural Commissioner Allan Ballard concurred that the amount of rat poison dispensed lately has shown no increase.

It is handed out at 30 outlets throughout the county, usually at fire stations.

The wax bait has been given to the public since 1965, and during that year the county dispensed 2,000 pounds of it. The highest year was 1968, when 8,727 pounds was given out. Last year, only 6,635 pounds were given out.

Ballard feels that people contribute to the rat problem to some extent. "This Norway rat loves people," he said. People are dirty, they feed their pets, throw birdseed on the ground — it takes very little to sustain a rat, so Mr. Rat moves right along."

A Break In War On Houseboat Colonies

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — A key break in a long legal logjam that has stymied Marin County's campaign to clean up the houseboat mess on Richardson Bay was proposed yesterday by the staff of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

Although development of new houseboat marinas had appeared imminent last May, the builders soon discovered a little-noticed BCDC requirement that both new houseboats and those replacing existing ones must float at all times, regardless of the tide.

The developers — George Kappas, Donlon Arques and Miriam Tellis — branded the condition as economically infeasible, and progress was halted while they dickered with commission staff to drop the flotation requirement.

The staff held firm on the requirement, however, and the marina developers and BCDC staff have been arguing over the matter since.

The months of dickering apparently will pay off, however, judging from a new staff recommendation yesterday that new houseboats be required to float only at mean lower low water, and not at minus tides below that level.

Four-Way Council Race Shapes Up In Novato

Daniel P. Donovan, owner of a chain of drug stores, today made it officially a four-way race for three Novato City Council seats by filing completed nomination papers to get his name on the April 11 ballot.

Council candidates also announced in Fairfax, San Anselmo and Mill Valley, and Belvedere incumbent Councilman Merritt K. Ruddock took out papers to file for reelection.

Donovan, who has yet to issue a formal campaign announcement, lives at 435 Fairway Drive. Besides pharmacy school, Donovan completed four years of law study with honors last June at the Lincoln University Law School in San Francisco.

He and his wife have four children.

Novato Council incumbent David Price Jones and challengers Edward T. Ryken and John Schoonover previously filed candidacy papers.

E. Ross Parkerson, chairman of the Fairfax Planning Commission, announced today he will seek one of two open city council seats in Fairfax.

Victim Of Shooting Off Critical List

James E. Nielsen, 22-year-old Lagunitas shooting victim, was reported improving today while two men accused of the attack were to appear in Marin Municipal Court.

Nielsen was shot and his wife, Cheryl , beaten yesterday when two armed and masked men invaded their home seeking money and drugs.

Nielsen was reported in serious condition at Marin General Hospital, an improvement from yesterday, when his condition was reported as critical. He suffered bullet wounds in his chest and shoulder.

The two alleged intruders, Henry Johnson, 32, and Charles E. Bonner, 25, both of San Francisco, captured in Fairfax after a high-speed chase, have been booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon,

Law Affects Park 'Visitors'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state Department of Parks and Recreation today announced that beginning late next month visitors who bring a dog to state parks must show that the animal either has a current license or a valid rabies inoculation.

William Penn Mott Jr., director of the department, said the new regulations were necessary to protect the health and safety of park visitors.

He noted that one out of every five families coming to a state park brings a pet.

Bugged 'Chutes Key Capture Of 'Beach Bum' Jet Hijacker

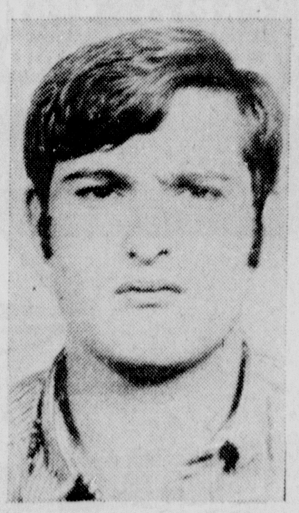
DENVER (UPI)—The FBI today identified an air pirate who bailed out of a hijacked Hughes Airwest DC9 jetliner with $50,000 ransom onto a flat Colorado wheat field as Richard Charles LaPoint, 23, on ex-soldier and New England beach bum.

Agents said the hijacker "acted odd" and would say only: "I want to see a lawyer." U.S. marshals went to Sterling, Colo., where LaPoint was hospitalized overnight, to transfer him to Denver today and charge him with air piracy.

LaPoint, described by the police chief in his hometown of Seabrook, N.H., as a man who "got out of line once in awhile," suffered a sprained wrist and ankle when he parachuted Thursday. He was captured by FBI agents, who recovered the $50,000 ransom he had collected from the flight he hijacked in Las Vegas.

"I'm not really surprised to hear what he did," said Rayneold Perkins, police chief at Seabrook. "But then, I suppose any man would jump out of a plane for $50,000, don't you? There were apparently some problems in the family with the boy. And when he got a little bit out of line, his parents used to give me a call."

The New England police chief said LaPoint "started running around the beaches" of Salisbury and Newburypoint, Mass., when he got out of the Army.



RICHARD LAPOINTE
Held as air pirate

"He just got out of line once in awhile," Rayneold said.

The FBI said LaPoint was born in Boston but did not say if he had a previous criminal record.

The hijacker with bushy hair and a mustache apparently was inspired by another air pirate who parachuted from a plane along the West Coast three months ago and disappeared with $200,000 ransom.

LaPoint boarded the plane in Las Vegas and hijacked it with a fake bomb before it took off for Reno, Nev. He freed two stewardesses and the 51 other passengers in exchange for the $50,000, two parachutes and a crash helmet. Then he ordered the plane to fly toward Denver.

He lowered a door underneath the plane's tail and bailed out from 12,000 feet about 80 miles northeast of Denver.

"We tracked him for half a mile," an FBI agent said. "We followed the footprints he left in the snow and mud."

The Air Force said it bugged the two bright orange parachutes given to LaPoint with homing devices to allow easy tracking when he bailed out. The hijacker apparently did not notice them.

Magee, Others In Hunger Strike

Twenty-two men — including Ruchell Magee, the two surviving Soledad Brothers and six men charged with murder as a result of the Aug. 21 killings at San Quentin Prison — have gone on a hunger strike inside the prison's adjustment center, scene of the summer shootings.

The inmates have submitted a list of seven demands growing out of allegedly poor food and few educational opportunities, according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park.

The strike began Wednesday, according to Park, when some inmates confined to the center's first floor returned their food and others threw it at their guards.

"The majority of these demands involve safety and security problems and we can't bend on them," said Park. "We're not going to bend on something which puts the lives of some people inside in danger."

"This is happening with outside encouragement and connivance," he said. The prison received the list demands by mail yesterday, he said. It had been postmarked from Berkeley.

The first demand, he said, concerned food. "They want their food served on metal trays like other prisoners instead of on paper plates. We took the trays away because they're a deadly weapon. We're not about to hand these men a lethal weapon, which a steel

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

SALT Session

VIENNA (UPI) — Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) negotiators met for two hours and 45 minutes today and conference sources denied reports that "one side or the other is dragging its feet."

The meeting at the U.S. Embassy was officially described as "quite hard-working." Another session was set for next Tuesday.

The sources referred to "reports from Washington," that have said the United States is deliberately delaying a SALT treaty until after President Nixon's visit to Peking Feb. 21. Soviet diplomats in Vienna have voiced the same suspicion.

Turning In Arms

NEW DELHI (UPI) — All-India Radio said today that rebel freedom fighters are turning in the weapons they used against Pakistani troops last month despite reports of some refusals in backcountry areas.

Bangladesh Prime Minister Sheikh Mujibur Rahman asked rebel fighters to turn in their weapons by Thursday. After that date, Mujib said, anyone keeping weapons would be doing so on an unauthorized and illegal basis.

Academy Cheating

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI) — Sixteen cadets handed in their resignations and 60 more were being investigated by classmates yesterday in the Air Force Academy's third cheating scandal in less than a decade.

"About 75 cadets have been implicated, but this does not necessarily mean they are guilty," said Col. Arthur S. Ragan, information director at the military school.

"The entire investigation was by cadets," he said. "They uncovered it. They are pursuing the investigation and they are sitting on the Honor Committee judging those that come before it."

Talks Suspended

ROME (UPI) — British and Maltese negotiators today suspended talks about a defense agreement on Malta after failing to get anywhere in two days of bargaining.

"We made no progress," British Defense Secretary Lord Carrington told newsmen after this latest round of talks with Maltese Prime Minister Dom Mintoff.

Loss In Laos

VIENTIANE (UPI) — A Laotian military source said today Laotian troops were pushed off the "Whisky Charlie" position on Skyline Ridge — a vital piece of land overlooking the secret Central Intelligence Agency base at Long Cheng.

American sources, however, refused to confirm the report.

Long Cheng is a CIA-operated base operated by the Laotian armed forces to train Meo tribesmen. It has been the target of a recent Communist offensive in northwestern Laos.

Soldier Killed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — An explosion killed a British soldier patrolling the Irish Republic border today, the army said.

An army spokesman announced the death of the second British soldier killed in Ulster this year, the eighth fatality in the province in 1972.

To Pay Kidnappers

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain (UPI) — A Spanish manufacturing company said today it will rehire 120 workers and give them a $15 a month pay raise to save the life of the kidnapped secretary general of the company's board of directors.

The executive, Ignacio Zabala, was kidnapped Wednesday by members of the Basque Homeland and Liberty E.T.A. group, a Basque nationalist organization. They said Zabala would be executed if the workers, fired for participating in an illegal strike, were not rehired and given a raise. Other company workers also got the same raise.

Lottery Date

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Selective Service today announced that this year's draft lottery will be held Feb. 2 — several months earlier than in the last few years. It may be the last lottery whose participants actually will be drafted.

This year's lottery affects all men born during 1953, and will determine the order in which they will be called up during 1973.

Previous lotteries have been held during the summer monthsbut the selective service said the date was moved up this year so that young men facing induction next year will know where they stand as soon as possible.

Bank Is Facing Loss Of Free License Plates

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Crocker Bank may lose the free license plates on 141 of its leased automobiles, Project Loophole has announced.

The student group, which looks for inequities in the tax system, said Thursday an attorney general's opinion says banks cannot get free registration on leased cars.

The group said the opinion was prompted by Project Loophole questioning the legality of free license plates for banks on leased automobiles.

It said its earlier research showed 3,636 cars owned and operated by California banks are exempt from paying $163,620 in vehicle registration fees.

Mrs. Meir Questions Sadat Intent

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Prime Minister Golda Meir said today Israel should not be blinded by Egypt's claims to be seeking peace and warned Western natios to be cautious in dealings with President Anwar Sadat.

"I am willing to give Sadat credit even more than he is due. Alas, there are people abroad and even in this country who, blinded by Sadat's signals, tend to forget that we must calculate our steps and chart our course in any settlement with regard to problems that bear upon our security and survival," she said in an interview in the Tel Aviv newspaper Ma'Ariv.

Four bombs exploded in the Lebanese capital of Beirut and Israeli soldiers said they were fired on twice from Syria Thursday.

In Cairo, Egyptian students pledged to support the government but demanded civilians be put on a war footing for a war with Israel.

North Viet Guns Score Copter Hit

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese troops shot down an American helicopter in the Central Highlands of South Vietnam today and Communist antiaircraft guns downed two U.S. F4 Phantoms over Laos.

The observer in the U.S. helicopter was killed and the pilot suffered a broken leg in the crash in the Central Highlands and all four crewmen of the two downed Phantom jets were rescued.

UPI Correspondent Donald A. Davis who was in the command helicopter on the same mission said the OH6 Loach helicopter was struck squarely in the side by a North Vietnamese B40 rocket.

Although there are no longer any American ground combat troops in the Central Highlands, U.S. helicopter crews have been increasingly busy helping the South Vietnamese in their campaign against the Communist buildup there.

Forty miles to the north of where the U.S. helicopter was downed, Thailand-based U.S. B52 bombers agacn pounded the Communists' Base Area 609, the stronghold overlapping the merging borders of South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

It was the fifth consecutive day of B52 raids in the Central Highlands and the bombers have dropped more than 1,700 tons of bombs in the area.

Allied intelligence has predicted for weeks that the Communists plan an offensive in the highlands shortly before President Nixon goes to China next month.

To the north in Thua Thien province, 29 miles southwest of the old imperial capital of Hue, another U.S. OH6 Loach helicopter was shot down Thursday.

Laotian military sources said today that Laotian troops had been forced off their Whisky Charlie position on Skyline Ridge, the vital high ground overlooking the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) operated base at Long Cheng in Northern Laos. American sources would not confirm the report.

Eight Blacks Are Shot Dead In Rhodesia Antigovernment Riots

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — Rhodesian security forces shot and killed eight blacks today on the sixth consecutive day of antigovernment rioting in five towns across the nation, police sources said.

Sources at the Mozambique border town of Umtali said eight blacks died and 14 were wounded in rioting which resumed after an apparent lull Thursday night.

They said rioters tore out a stretch of the local railway line, snarling incoming train traffic. Passengers were transferred to buses for the rest of the trip to Umtali.

The nation of five million blacks, ruled by the 250,000 whites, awaited an explanation from Premier Ian Smith who scheduled a nationwide radio and television broadcast later today.

Umtali police said they fought the crowds back into the black quarter of Sakubva with rifle shots and teargas and cordoned it off. They said the crowds stoned cars belonging to both white and fellow blacks and mobbed several shoppers late Thursday afternoon.

In the early hours of today, police reinforced by white reservists equipped with riot equipment— rifles and green steel helmets— arrested a fourth member of the African National Council (ANC) which the government has charged with masterminding black opposition to proposed independence settlement terms with Britain. He was identified as Joseph Chinamono.

Chinamano collapsed in a faint when officers arrived to take him and his wife Ruth off to jail. Chinamano later was taken to Harari hospital, political sources said.

Bombed Court Reopens Early

The Marin County Hall of Justice courtroom wrecked by a bomb blast in October 1970 was reopened this week — weeks ahead of schedule.

County officials said today the renovated courtroom, as well as one never before used, had not been expected to open until later next month. The contractor, Mayta and Jensen of San Francisco, had been given construction leeway which was not needed, county officials said.

Cost of repairing the bombed courtroom, now assigned to superior court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, totaled about $106,000, of which $98,000 was paid by the county's insurance carrier.

The new courtroom, the county's fifth superior court, has been assigned to Judge E. Warren McGuire.

Completion of that courtroom, left vacant during construction of the other four for future use, will cost taxpayers about $100,000.

Judge Henry J. Broderick, presiding superior court judge, said the two openings will give the courts greater flexibility in handling cases.

He said some nonjury cases, which during the past 16 months have been staged in jury rooms, now will be returned to the courtrooms.

DISCOVERS LIFE AT 81 NOT BORING

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. — If you were 81 years old and in good health, what would you do? Desh Baker found the answer to that question.

He volunteered to work at Berrien General Hospital. He wondered if he could be of use.

He sure could, the director of volunteers told him. So Baker runs bingo games in the therapy department, talks stamps with hospitalized children, plays checkers with wheelchair patients or just talks.

"They said 'you're 81 and want to help?' Gosh, I was pleased when they told me to join up," says Baker. (Los Angeles Times Syndicate.)

Cotati Agrees With Sonoma Aid Plans

The Cotati City Council last night agreed to a plan by Sonoma County to offer planning assistance to small cities, but balked at the cost of $2,000 per year.

City Mgr. Paul W. Salfen told the council the Sonoma County Planning Department would like to hire an additional full-time planner for the assistance project. He said the cost for Cotati was estimated at $2,000 per year.

City Clerk Carol Bonfigli said the council agreed the new plan may provide more regular planning services to the city, but said it should be free and a normal part of county services.

The Cotati City Council also:

MEETING — Agreed to meet with the city planning commission Feb. 1 at 7:30 p.m. to review the proposed zoning ordinance.

HUT — Denied the request of the county mental health services department to use the Cotati Lions Club scout hut, saying it should be reserved for youth activities.

Hughes Book Flap —Publication Delay

NEW YORK (UPI)—Questions have arisen about the identity of the person who endorsed checks worth $600,000 which publishers thought they were paying billionaire Howard R. Hughes for exclusive rights to his autobiography. As a result, publication of the book is being delayed.

McGraw-Hill Books and Time-Life Inc. revealed Thursday that they had questions about the identity of the person who held the Swiss bank account into which the money was paid. It was the first time the publishing firms had expressed public doubts during the controversy swirling around the purported autobiography.

The firms, however, said they continued to believe the material in the book and its serialization was authentic.

Shortly after the firms revealed their doubts in New York Supreme Court — the state's second highest judicial body—a Los Angeles spokesman for Hughes Tool Co., the base of the recluse's industrial empire, said:

"We'd like to point out that within 24 hours after Hughes Tool Co. lawyer Chester Davis was given access to copies of the checks deposited in a Swiss bank, Hughes representatives were able to establish that the 'H.R. Hughes' involved is not the Howard Hughes who is owner of the Hughes Tool Co., Houston, Tex."

The two checks were endorsed by 'H.R. Hughes.' Veteran aides to the 66-year-old Hughes have said he signed his name either "Howard Hughes" or Howard R. Hughes," but never "H.R. Hughes."

A McGraw-Hill spokesman said last week that the checks were not sent to Hughes in Nassau, where he is believed to be living, but were paid to him through Clifford Irving, the author through whom all the arrangements for the purported autobiography were made. Irving has said he interviewed Hughes over a nine-month period about 100 times.

He has said he taped the interviews. But the terms of the contract, McGraw-Hill said, called for the tapes to be returned to Hughes. As a result, the companies say they have only transcripts of the tapes made by Irving, not the tapes themselves.

"McGraw-Hill and Life have been conducting a thorough and continuing investigation of all aspects of the Howard Hughes manuscript," the companies said in their joint statement. "This investigation has just developed questions concerning the identity of the holder of the bank account at the Swiss Credit Bank in Zurich in which checks made out to Hughes were endorsed and deposited."

Swiss banking laws allow secrecy to be set aside only in criminal actions or inheritance cases.

"We therefore filed an action with the appropriate Swiss regulatory authorities in an effort to obtain full details. Until we have obtained information that is completely satisfactory to us both, McGraw-Hill and Life are holding in abeyance action on the publication of the Howard Hughes manuscript," the statement said.

Trial Set For Five In Dope Case

Five persons arrested on marijuana charges last June pleaded innocent to the charges yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Charlene Lorraine Johnson, 20, Mark Harrison Leroy, 20, Lauritz Reginald Woods, Scott Lea Holcomb, 22, and John Michael Whyte, 26, all of Kentfield, are charged with felony possession of pot and misdemeanor counts of possessing narcotics paraphernalia and being in a place where drugs were used.

Their trial was set for the week of April 3.

They were arrested at their residence June 30 after narcotics agents followed another suspect to the residence prior to an alleged sale of cocaine to an undercover agent at a San Rafael motel.

Charges against a sixth person arrested at the residence, Alan Douglas Kernan, 21, were dismissed in municipal court when Judge Peter Allen Smith ruled there was insufficient evidence to hold him for trial.

Disclosure Law Sought

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Garden Grove, introduced legislation Thursday requiring elected public officials and candidates to disclose some of their business investments.

The measure would require them to disclose investments over $10,000 in firms which would be regulated by the governmental body they are serving with.

Failure to file such a financial statement would be a misdemeanor.

A similar bill by Cory passed the Assembly last year but died in the Senate.

pilots said he saw the man on the ground.

"I spotted the hijacker when he touched the ground," said Lt. Col. Edward Satterfield of Painesville, Ohio. "He got up, saw us above, and threw a briefcase in the air. I don't know if it was in disgust at being followed or what."

Gen. Bruce K. Holloway, the commander of the Strategic Air Command (SAC) said today he hoped fast action by the Air Force would serve to deter future "bailout hijackings."

"We hope this will show how the Air Force can very effectively help in such a situation," Holloway said of Thursday's capture, "and perhaps this will discourage this bailout hijacking technique."

LaPoint's attempt was almost identical to the unsolved Pacific Northwest Airlines hijacking last Thanksgiving Eve. That skyjacker, who signed aboard as D. B. Cooper, bailed out in rugged mountains between Seattle and Reno at 5,000 feet and escaped with his $200,000 ransom.

But FBI agents and northeast Colorado law officers found LaPoint lying in high grass 13 miles from the nearest town, Akron Colo., population 1,890. He was wearing cowboy boots and a western shirt.

He gave up without a fight 5 hours and 50 minutes after the drama began. He was not armed.

"He was probably glad he was found," said undersheriff Bob Jones. "He had no weapons and his leg was broken just above the ankle."

However, doctors at Logan County Hospital said the air pirate had no broken bones—just two sprains. He was reported in good condition.

"He was cooperative, but would not give his name or age or any other personal information," said Dr. J.E. Naugle.

The pilot of the hijacked Hughes twin-engine jet, Capt. Don Burkhard, said the man was about 28, and "lots of hair" and threatened to blow the plane up with what looked like sticks of dynamite wired to explode at the flip of a switch.

The "bomb" later turned out to be eight flares wired to a nine-volt battery with a toggle switch.

Burkhard, copilot Frank McDonald and stewardess Trudi Hunt were the only crew members aboard the airliner. The jet landed in Denver after the hijacker bailed out.

"He became quite composed after we were airborne from Las Vegas," Miss Hunt said. "He said, 'Head for Denver. That's not where we're going, but head for Denver.'"

Burkhard said he was traveling at about 140 knots when the crew estimated the skyjacker jumped out.

"We were observing through the viewing area and after a couple of scans, Trudi and i decided he was no longer there," Burkhard said.

TV Film Special Tomorrow Night

"The People," a 90-minute science fiction film in which two Lucas Valley youngsters perform, will be shown at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow over Channel 7.

A story of the flying adventures of Johanna Baer and Jack Dahlgren, the youngsters, appeared in yesterday's Independent-Journa, but the time and channel for the telecast was omitted through mechanical error.

Two other Marin County youngsters also had roles in the film, although they did not fly like Johanna and Jack. They were Dorothy Drady, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Drady of Nicasio, and Andrew Crichton, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex D. Crichton of 11 Ryan Avenue, Mill Valley.

Robbery Figure Pleads Innocent

Charles Henery, 19, of 69 Cole Drive, Marin City, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to two felony count of armed robbery.

Preliminary hearing was set for Feb. 1.

Henery is accused of being one of four men who robbed a San Rafael couple last Oct. 29.

John David Mackie and Sandra Ann Pazamickas were bound, gagged, and robbed at gunpoint of $600 in personal possessions and cash, according to police.

Two other men, George Gregory Watts and Ernest Biard, both 18 and of San Francisco, are to stand trial on the same charges the week of Feb. 7 in Marin Superior Court.

Road, is an urban planner and has worked for the Marin County Planning Department since 1965. He is a member of the Bishop's committee at St. Augustine Episcopal Church in Fairfax and of the Fairfax Planning Commission. He has been commission chairman since last April.

Parkerson said he would campaign for restraint on city spending and a city government fully open to the public.

He did not state a position on the firing of Fairfax Police Chief James R. Orr, but said the problem should have been discussed in public prior to the firing.

Parkerson said he supported a move to rezone Marin Town and Country Club property to prevent residential development, but would want the rezoning to be a part of a larger effort to protect the environment of Fairfax.

Anderson, 48, of 468 Laurel Avenue, works for an insurance brokerage firm in San Francisco. He was elected to the council in 1968, having previously served two years on the city planning commission.

He is a past president of the San Anselmo Homes Association and was one of the original organizers of the San Anselmo Congress for Community Progress in 1966.

Anderson said he thought low income housing and the Corte Madera Creek flood control project would be issues in the campaign. He said he would continue fighting any proposal for a concrete ditch through San Anselmo as part of a flood control project.

He said he has supported the federal leased housing program in San Anselmo as a means of providing low income housing and would favor an increase from the 16 units provided in San Anselmo now.

Anderson and his wife, Irene, have two sons, David 13, and Donald, 10.

Mill Valley businessman Dolph F. Jaeger yesterday said he is running for a seat on the city council "to protect the rights of long-term citizens of Mill Valley."

Jaeger, who ran third in a three-way race for the council in 1970, said he doesn't think the interests of those who have lived many years in Mill Valley are being represented properly.

"I think we should emphasize the basic city services — police and fire protection — and not get distracted by issues that have nothing to do with local city government," he said.

Jaeger, 46, is a retired Naval officer and belongs to many Masonic organizations. He has been a Mill Valley resident since 1962.

He and his wife, Frances, live at 1 Manor Terrace. They have a daughter, Susan, 18.

Previous filings reports in the Independent-Journal had overlooked the fact that Belvedere Councilman Ruddock's term also was to expire in April, leaving three seats open. He had still not issued a formal candidacy statement today.

HUNGER

tray certainly is," according to Park.

He said the inmates also complained that they are fed sandwiches at noon instead of a regular meal.

The second demand concerned exercise, and the fact that the men in the center are not allowed into the exercise yard. "We're not inclined to let them out until their behavior is conducive to safe operation of the exercise yard," said Park.

Park said the third demand concerns religious freedom and the fact that the men are not allowed to attend the prison chapel. The associate warden admitted this was true, but said a chaplain visited the men in their cells.

They also complained that religious publications, such as Muhammed Speaks, the newspaper of the Black Muslims, was not being delivered to them. Park said it is.

The fourth complaint concerns visiting. Since the Aug. 21 incident, men from the adjustment center have been brought into the prison visiting area wearing shackles. This is done, said Park, "Because we don't want to see any more dead officers around here. We're not about to place our staff in danger, hence the reason for the shackles."

Fifth complaint is about medical treatment. Park said that a medical technician visits the center every day, and he claims that is adequate.

Sixth complaint is that commissary rights have been cut back since the shooting incident. "They want to be allowed to purchase everything that the general prisoner is allowed to purchase," said Park.

"We have restricted the commissary since Aug. 21 because in block cheese we have found bullets which have been smuggled in — therefore no block cheese."

The last demand is that the inmates want to be taught "relevant" courses. Park said that an instructor visits the adjustment center regularly to set up self-study courses in subjects such as history and mathematics.

"I think that these men, particularly in view of the things they've been charged with, have been treated in a quite humane and reasonable way, and even though the staff has been subjected to a great deal of vulgar language, I would say this: We don't treat these men nearly as badly as they treat the officers who have to handle them. We don't throw feces on inmates, they do at us. We don't throw food, they do."

He said he intends to "keep the thing as secure as possible and see what happens."

Magee is accused along with former UCLA professor Angela Davis in connection with the 1970 Hall of Justice shoot-out, and is awaiting trial in Marin Superior Court. The surviving Soledad Brothers, John Clutchette and Fleeta Drumgo, are on trial in San Francisco as a result of the slaying of a Soledad Prison guard.

SHOOTING

attempted murder and robbery. Bail was set at $50,000 each.

Fairfax police reported they have recovered a gun apparently used in the shooting, a 38-caliber revolver, in a creek area opposite 2360 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Officers were driving west on the boulevard on the outlook for the getaway vehicle when they spotted it speeding east on the boulevard at Sherman Court.

Police made a U-turn and gave chase, and caught up with the speeding auto at 1906 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

There was a three-block stretch in which the car was out of sight of police, and on a hunch that the gun had been thrown away in that area, began a search.

After a half-hour hunt, Officer Mike Morarity found a 38caliber revolver off the roadway in brushy creek area, according to Acting Chief Charles Grasso. "We were lucky," he said.

The Nielsens, who lived in a small white home next to the Old Viking Restaurant on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, were attacked at 9:45 a.m. after they told the men they had only $6 and no narcotics. The gunmen were said to have taken the $6 before fleeing.

According to the Marin County Clerk's office records, Cheryl Nielsen, 22, had filed Tuesday for dissolution of the couple's marriage, claiming they had separated Monday, had no property and no children. They were married in Florida in 1968.

Ross Psychiatric Center Given Additional Funds

The Marin Mental Health Advisory Board has approved an additional $22,000 appropriation to the Ross Psychiatric Center for the current fiscal year, according to chairman Jack D. Williams.

The additional funds were requested by the center to cover an increased patient load and expenses incurred in the center's recent move to new quarters.

The money was approved at Wednesday's board meeting, Williams reported.

Chapman Elected President Of Group

Beau W. Chapman of 65 Estates Drive was elected last night as president of the Sleepy Hollow Homes Association.

Chapman succeeds Charles C. Swensen as president.

Other officers elected at the quarterly membership meeting of the homes association were Dale J. Missimer, vice president; Ruth Smith, recording secretary; Betty Flanders, corresponding secretary, and William Forward, treasurer.

only to new houseboats. Those replacing existing houseboats will be subjectdd to the same flotation requirement as the existing houseboats — they must float when the tide is five feet above mean lower low water.

The developers had asked that this requirement be applied to new houseboats as well.

Kappas has 113 houseboats, and his marina will accommodate four additional houseboats. Arques has 221, and will add 24 more. Mrs. Tellis has 23, and plans no change.

The net result will be to increase the houseboat population from the existing 357 to 385, according to commission figures.

A commission vote on the staff compromise was set for 2 p.m. on Feb. 3. The commission virtually always backs the staff recommendations, although one member strongly criticized the recommendation.

Marin County Supervisor Michael Wornum appealed for votes to approve the staff recommendation "to get this area cleared up once and for all."

Only Commissioner Emanuel Razeto, an Alameda County supervisor, was critical, objecting the county — which backed the marina developers' application — was "asking us to weaken our position. I don't know what kind of boat it is that doesn't float," he added.

The commission's executive director, Joseph E. Bodovitz, said the problem of the houseboats was unique in the bay, and cited the need to stop the dumping of raw sewage into the bay from the houseboats. They will be connected to shoreside sewers once they are moved to the new marinas.

The Bay Conservation and Development Commission also:

DIKES — Received a report from the district engineer of the Army Corps of Engineers, Col. Charles E. Roberts, that a new corps regulation requires a corps permit for any fill along the coast or in the bay — even it if is behind dikes erected as late as 1965 to circumvent the then-new commission's jurisdiction.

STRAWBERRY — Ignored an offer from Strawberry developer Stanley W. Taylor to drop his suit against the commission if it would reverse its Jan. 6 unanimous vote denying his plans for nine homes below East Strawberry Drive.

FEES — Received a staff proposal for a fee schedule to process permit applications, ranging from a base of $50 for minor permits up to $300 for the first two acres of fill in a project with more than two acres of fill, plus $20 for each additional acre over two acres. A vote on the schedule was set for Feb. 3.

Novato Review Committee Elects Cannon

Jerry A. Cannon of 1 Isabella Court has been elected president of the Novato Plan Review Committee, and Thomas G. Teller of 9 Thunderbird Drive, vice president.

The committee gave preliminary approval to plans for construction of 105 apartment units in the Diablo Triangle, covering 3.57 acres south of Warner Creek.

The development plan, by Horst Hanf and Edward T. Ghirardo, will be heard by the city planning commission at 8 p.m. Monday.

The committee, meeting Wednesday, also gave preliminary approval to a master plan by Karl Treffinger and Associates for 85 single-family townhouses on 15.4 acres on the south side of San Jose Boulevard, opposite San Jose Junior High School.

Crash Injures Two Policemen

Two Larkspur policemen were injured early today and their patrol car demolished in a two-car accident on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, according to the California Highway Patrol.

The policemen, Michael D. Dory, 26, and Peter Doyle, 24, were treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts and bruises following the 2:10 a.m. accident.

The patrol said the pair was westbound on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard east of La Cuesta Drive when their patrol car was struck from behind by a car driven by David D. Young, 50, of 370 Crown Road, Kentfield.

The impact pushed the squad car into a utility pole, demolishing it, the patrol said.

OBITUARIES

Edward J. Bertheaud, 84, Dies

Bertheaud was born in Texas and moved to Berkeley as a youngster. He had lived in Petaluma since 1941 and operated an egg business for 12 years.

He is survived by his wife, Minnie; two sons, Edward J. Bertheaud Jr. of Santa Rosa and John Bertheaud of San Francisco; two daughters, Phyllis Nelson of Petaluma and Dorothy Tage of Kenwood.

A chapel blessing will be offered at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Private burial will be at Liberty Cemetery.

T. G. PEARSON

Thomas G. Pearson, former newspaper publisher and contributor of articles to the Independent-Journal, was found dead yesterday in his residence at the Shelter Bay apartments, Mill Valley.

The Marin County coroner's office said Pearson, 62, was discovered about 6 p.m. by a neighbor who became concerned because he hadn't seen Pearson for five days. Death apparently was due to natural causes, according to deputy coroner Donald L. Cornish.

Pearson reportedly at one time owned a weekly newspaper in the Midwest. He had contributed articles to the Independent-Journal's Marin Magazine from 1968 to 1971.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley.

MRS. JACKSON

Mass of the Resurrection will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. at St. Sylvester's Church, Peacock Gap, for Mrs. Alicia C. Jackson, 87, of San Rafael, who died Tuesday in a local hospital following an illness.

She is survived by her husband, Frank J. Jackson Sr., and a son, Frank J. Jackson Jr.

MRS. COWEN

She is survived by two sons, Jack Myers of Ridgecrest, Kern County, and Rodney Myers of San Rafael, and eight grandchildren.

Man Arrested In Dope Case

Michael William Musser, 20, of 808 Reichert Avenue, Novato, has been arrested by Marin County drug abuse agents on a warrant charging him with selling and transporting marijuana.

Musser, arrested Wednesday, was released on his own recognizance to appear in municival court Tuesday.

He is charged with selling $290 worth of pot to an undercover agent last Nov. 5 in Fairfax.

Damage Suit Over Landslide

A $125,000 claim for damages has been filed against Marin County by a landowner whose property is suspected of causing the 1969 Miller Avenue landslide in Mill Valley.

The claim, filed by attorneys for Malinda Rowe-Beddoe of Berkshire, England, maintains the slide was caused by the county's excavation of the toe of the hill during widening of Miller Avenue.

She is asking for $25,000 to cover slide cleanup costs and $100,000 for a retaining wall to prevent future slides.

Political Impact Of Youth Emerging

By CURTIS J. SITOMER

The Christian Science Monitor News Service
©1972 The Christian Science

LOS ANGELES — A clue to the potential impact of youth in the 1972 presidential election will come here in California within the next month.

Young political activists — representing the largest state arm of the newly formed National Youth Caucus (NYC) — will hold simultaneous meetings in Los Angeles and San Jose on tomorrow to plan strategy for their participation in delegate selection caucuses which are set for Feb. 12 in California congressional districts.

California is the only state to hold both district party caucuses to choose candidate slates and a winner take-all presidential primary.

Larry Diamond, Stanford University student-body president and chairman of the NYC chapter here, said in an interview that his group's immediate thrusts will be to:

Get young people selected to the California delegations of major presidential candidates.

Mobilize a standing force throughout the state to get eligible youth registered for next June's primary here and the general election in November. There are more than 1.2 million newly enfranchised 18-to-21-year-olds in California — representing about 10 per cent of all those in this age bracket across the nation.

Press for the state presidential delegation here to take a firm stand on youth-oriented issues — such as ending the war in Indo-China ecological measures, and revamping of the political structure.

Expert pressure for the ultimate nomination of both Republican and Democratic candidates who are conscious of the needs and desires of young people.

Diamond explains: "Young people learned in Chicago in 1968 that violence is a bankrupt tactic. Now we want to open up the conventions themselves. It's not enough to protest outside. We have to be in the hall exerting political muscle."

NYC activists say that there is already clear-cut evidence of the political impact of youth here in California and elsewhere. They point to recent elections of young people to city councils in Berkeley, Boston, and San Diego and to massive registrations of 18-year-olds in California college communities such as Davis, Humboldt County, and Isla Vista.

Diamond says that 38 per cent of newly enfranchised young people in California are already registered.

Youth caucus spokesmen here say they are not now committed to the election of any one presidential aspirant. But they admit they are attracted to Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr. of California among Republicans and Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York of the Democratic hopefuls.

"But make no mistake about it," stresses Diamond. "We are all working for the defeat of President Nixon."

What are the possibilities of youth turning to a third or fourth party coalition candidate if neither the Democrats or Republicans nominate someone acceptable to them?

"Highly unlikely," says Diamond. "By going to someone like (former Sen. Eugene J.) McCarthy, we would only ensure the re-election of Nixon."

"Of course, we couldn't accept a Jackson (Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D) of Washington) or a Yorty (Mayor Samuel W. Yorty (D) of Los Angeles). But if a centrist candidate like Muskie (Sen. Edmund S. Muskie (D) of Maine) were nominated, we woudl work to persuade him to be more responsive to our needs," asserted the youthful political activist.

Attorney To Give Prison Reform Talk

San Rafael attorney Salle S. Soladay will speak on prison reform at the annual dinner meeting of the Marin Association for Mental Health at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 2 at Alexander Hall of San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo.

Mrs. Soladay, active in prison reform, will discuss new approaches in penology.

Coroner's Investigator Keith C. Craig will be presented the association's annual mental health award for his efforts to reduce Marin's suicide rate through the Marin Suicide Prevention Center, which opened in July.

New officers to be installed at the meeting include Dr. Rudolf Kupfer, president; Dr. Arnold Knepfer, first vice president; Deke Kitchen, second vice president, and Etta Allen, treasurer.

New members elected to the board of directors will be welcomed. They are Mrs. Axel W. Hoke, Mrs. Larry Mishkind and John Trumbull.

Reservations for the meeting may be made through the association office.

Steam Bus Set For Commuters

OAKLAND (UPI) —An ecperimental steam bus will be tested in scheduled service by AC Transit next Monday—the first demonstration of its kind in the country.

Regular fares will be charged on the bus, which will operate between East Oakland, Oakland and Berkeley Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Special schedules have been arranged to give regular AC Transit riders a chance to participate in the test. The bus will make two round trips in the morning and one round trip in the later part of the afternoon.

Skiing Is Matter Of 'Listening'

Blier, a freshman at American International College is totally blind.

Blier said Thursday, he began skiing during the winter of 1969-70 when he and other students at the Perkins School for the Blind were given free instruction at Haystack Mountain in Dover, Vt.

"I was nervous the first time I tried it but the instructor said I was a 'natural' so I kept it up," said Blier.

This year he enrolled in AIC's winter skiing course for academic credit.

Blier needs someone skiing in front of him to follow. The leader often has bells attached to his poles so Mark can hear him and ski in the direction of the sound.

COLLAGE — Ursula Johnson's print collage, in which she transforms operating-room accessories into a melange of sea anemones and other underwater life, is part of a two-man exhibit with ceramic artist John Chambers. Their works are on view at Dominican College, San Rafael.

ART REVIEW

Monoprint Style Handled Expertly

By ADA GARFINKEL

Some years ago monoprints were not considered an acceptable art form and were barred from many juried competitions. Usually monoprints were made by combining thinned oil paint and turpentine in a pan, spreading a sheet of paper over the mixture and letting chance dictate what would happen.

What you got was one monoprint looking pretty much like another. In recent years, however, many artists have added to their repertoire of resources and have come up with some really fine results.

San Rafael artist, Ursula Johnson, whose works are on display with ceramicist John Chambers's works at Dominican College, San Rafael, has developed several diverse processes and directions — all of which are done without a press. She starts by applying oil paint to glass with a breyer, "picking up the image on paper."

To this she might add line drawings of figures traced over the back, as in her Egyptian hieratic prints. Or she might incorporate torn or cut Romanesque or Byzantine figures and architecture, as in "Basilica" and in "Old World, New World" — the latter a two-part work in which a swirling firmament is confined within a narrow rectangle above a circle in which vaporous gases surround the proud figure of a woman whose enigmatic gaze seems to be unaffected by the death-mask of a young child levitating nearby.

In several of the "transfer" prints, the pinks of the skin tones — so typical of the murals of antiquity — are recaptured in the surrounding areas by the artist, giving her prints great authenticity.

Mrs. Johnson veers off sharply in her series of relief prints with titles such as: "Recycling," "Sole Power," "'S' is for Swansons" — all reworked directly from found objects.

In her newest prints, this artist has added silkscreens which reveal an Oriental affinity in color, shape and textural quality. Far from decrying this wide range or spreading of self, Mrs. Johnson rejoices in this "inward seeking out of myself."

Chambers, a Stinson Beach resident, has taught ceramics at Dominican College for three years, including kiln construction and an experimental laboratory in clay and glazes. His work is purely functional — and of great beauty.

Handsomely installed on tiered white platforms are his covered jars and casseroles, cups, goblets, teapots, in stoneware and saltglaze pottery. The latter, with a finely pock-marked texture, are generally in maroons combined with a rich brown. Other colors are yellow-ochres in rich, creamy buff and the subtlest of cobalt blue.

Chambers, who spent this past summer studying in the College of Ceraminces at Alfred University in New York, is largely self-taught. His preference for making functional works centers on the belief that "pieces which have the most modest and everyday connection with the home may be nonetheless significant sculptural expressions."

There is a great appeal in this concept of beauty — it is enough to make one want to throw out everything and replace with true works of art.

The works of Miss Johnson and Chambers will be on view in San Marco Gallery of the college through Feb. 8. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Strawberry Council Sets Meeting Dates, Workshop

The Strawberry Area Community Council, which wants a six-month moratorium on building in Strawberry pending information of a new master plan for the area, has decided to hold weekly meetings and an all-day planning workshop next month.

Council member Trudy de La Fontaine said the group had decided to meet every Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Strawberry community building and to hold the workshop at an unspecified date in February.

The group met Wednesday with Harvey M. Bragdon, Marin County's chief of current planning, to discuss new projects proposed for the Strawberry area, Mrs. de La Fontaine said. J. Martin Rosse is in charge of a committee of the council investigating planned new projects.

Mrs. de La Fontaine invited all interested Strawberry residents to attend the weekly meetings and said the time and date of the February workshop will be announced.

San Marin Group Picks New Officers

Gilbert J. Moncayo of 140 San Carlos Way has been elected president of the San Marin Improvement Association.

Robert Burke was elected vice president, George M. Brown, treasurer, Betty Molinelli, corresponding secretary, and Betty Hannon, recording secretary.

Elected area directors were Richard Fowler, Diane Ryken, Brian K. Stompe, Fred Wells, Robert B. Bourdet, Walter Baine, Mel Jung, Peter L. Rasmussen, Ernest H. Rankin, Ulric H. Reynolds III and Gary Bramon.

Jerome Kuykendall, transportation developer for the Golden Gate Bridge District, a scheduled speaker at the group's meeting Wednesday, was absent due to illness.

New Boss For Health Agency

Dr. Michael Harris, a dentist, has been elected president of the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Marin for the coming year.

At a meeting Wednesday, members of the council also elected Trude Tude Baum as first vice president of the organization, Chester Villalbe as second vice president, Lois Riboli as secretary and Derek Parker as treasurer.

Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella and James Reed, a San Anselmo city councilman, were appointed representatives to the council, and Dr. Catherine Pike, Mary Brooks, Edward T. Ryken and Margarete Anderson were elected directors of the organization.

Bill Would Aid Drug Traffic Fight

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill appropriating $3 million to assist local law enforcement agencies fight drug traffic has been introduced by Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Garden Grove.

Cory's bill, introduced Thursday, would provide the money for "discovering and prosecuting persons engaged in manufacture and sale of narcotics or restricted dangerous drugs."

Petaluma Schools Unification Backed

The Marin County Committee on School District Reorganization has voted its blessings for a second time to unification of all districts within the Petaluma High School District, including three elementary districts that overlap into Marin.

The Marin panel, meeting Wednesday, ordered a letter sent to itz Sonoma County counterpart approving the unification, according to Robert E. Spain, assistant county superintendent of schools.

However, as it had done when the proposal first came up in 1965, the Marin committee asked that portions of Lincoln, Laguna and Union districts within Marin County be annexed to the Novato Unified School District.

Spain said the committee also asked for a place on the agenda for the April 13-14 meeting of the state Board of Education in Sacramento. The Marin committee wants formal reaffirmation of the state decision that no unification election need be held in the Tamalpais High School District area this year.

The committee also agreed to future conferences with Corte Madera city officials who are concerned because the city lies within three school districts. The city officials want the lines adjusted.

Court Upholds Pot Conviction

HONOLULU (UPI) —The State Supreme Court Thursday upheld the marijuana conviction of Paul L. Kantner, guitarist with the Jefferson Airplane rock group.

Kantner was arrested in October 1969 in a rented Honolulu home following a rock concert. He was convicted a year later of possession of marijuana.

At his non-jury trial, Kantner's attorney, Hyman Greenstein, sought to have the charge dismissed by attacking the constitutionality of the marijuana statutes.

Innocent Plea In Theft Case

Darrell William Drennan, 51, of El Cerrito, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of possessing stolen property and a misdemeanor count of having property with serial numbers removed.

Preliminary hearing was set for Feb. 1.

Drennan was arrested Monday at a San Rafael motel. Police said they found in his room a television set with its serial numbers scratched off and a tape recorder and projector reportedly stolen in a Modesto school burglary.

No complaint was filed against Billy Ralph Robinson, 39, of Modesto, and Buddy Charles Fisher, 69, of no known address, who were arrested near the motel and led police to Drennan.

Car Theft Ring Case Is Cracked

NEW YORK (UPI) — U.S. Attorney Robert A. Morse announced today the indictment of 71 men as alleged members of a giant steal-to-order auto theft ring.

Morse said the ring was responsible for the theft of at least 1,000—and possibly as many as 3,000—late model luxury cars during a two-year period.

FBI agents have taken into custody 58 alleged members of the ring, 28 of them in New York and the rest in various eastern seaboard states, Morse said.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Vincent Favorito said the ring took orders from prospective customers, then stole automobiles matching the customers' requirements.

The customers, he said, paid $2,500 for each car, $1,000 down and $1,500 on delivery.

The FBI said in a statement that those indicted included four public school teachers, a policeman, a fireman, a state employe, a garage owner, two morticians and a tavern owner. Seventeen of the indictments were on charges of knowingly purchasing stolen cars.

The FBI said the major break in the case came in March, 1971, when an FBI agent and a north Carolina highway patrolman spotted a late model car with New York license plates. A check of the license determined the car had been stolen. The occupants of the car were arrested, and the subsequent investigation led to others in the ring.

The FBI said they were then sold in New York, Newark, Nasemond County, Va., New Haven, Conn., Washington, eastern North Carolina, Atlanta, Philadelphia, and Minneapolis.

Tank Tests Essential, Board Told

A testing program to determine how efficient Stinson Beach's septic tanks are will be expensive but is essential, the Stinson Beach County Water District board was told last night.

William Desmond, Marin County chief of environmental health, told board members he was willing to help the community with its problem of faulty septic tanks, but said the county's new septic tank ordinance will be enforced.

The ordinance, adopted by the board of supervisors in October, sets up strict requirements for new tanks and provides for periodic inspections of any tank found to be defective.

A testing program must be undertaken to determine how widespread failures are, director John L. Jones said Desmond told the meeting. But his agency has no funds for such a program.

Director Proctor Jones moved at the close of the meeting to embark on a 100 per cent testing program, but the board decided to postpone the question until an adjourned meeting at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Stinson Beach Community Center.

Living Costs Up In December

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The government reported today the consumer cost-of-living rose by 0.4 per cent in December, the first full month of President Nixon's Phase II economic controls, while the general economy accelerated by 6.1 per cent in the final quarter of 1971.

The December cost-of-living announcement by the Labor Department showed that the index increased by 3.4 per cent for the entire year —the lowest increase since a 3 per cent rise in 1967.

The other economic indicator released by the Commerce Department showed that the Gross National ProductNq(GNP) wen up by $19.5 billion in the final three months of 1971, achieving a seasonal adjusted annual rate of $1.073 trillion.

The GNP had climbed by $13.5 billion in the previous quarter.

For the full year, however, the economy's growth was a more modest 2.8 per cent, the department said. Prices also dropped somewhat from 1970 levels.

Assistant Commerce Secretary Harold C. Passer said the figures proved "the economy has already shifted into a higher gear and the prospects for strong real growth and moderating inflation in 1972 are excellent."

Discounting the effects of inflation, the 6.1 per cent "real" growth in fourth quarter GNP out-paced the 2.8 per cent third quarter rise. At the same time, prices, as measured by the GNP "deflator", increased 1.5 per cent in the fourth quarter, the lowest rate of inflation since the third quarter of 1965.

The department stressed that the fourth quarter figures were "preliminary and incomplete." Information on consumer prices, foreign and domestic trade and inventories is still being collected and a revised estimate will be issued in February.

The cost of living report showed its greatest increase since August when Nixon first clamped price-wage controls on the economy.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) said almost two-thirds of the increase was caused by higher prices for food, especially fresh vegetables which are exempt from the price controls. The index for food in supermarkets jumped 1.3 per cent last month, more than twice its normal increase for December.

The price index for nonfood commodities remained unchanged, despite a 0.7 per cent increase in new-car prices and other increases for gasoline and reading materials. These higher prices were offset by a sharp 2.7 per cent decline in used-car prices and smaller decreases for tires, clothing, some toilet goods and over-the-counter drug items.

The overall increase for December, which was twice the 0.2 per cent advance for November, reflected the expiration of the 90-day freeze Nov. 14 and the initial impact of the Phase II controls that permit some limited price increases.

The department also said the cost of living increased only 3.4 per cent for all of 1971, down sharply from the 5.5 per cent increase for 1970 and the 6.1 increase in 1969, the first two years of President Nixon's term.

The 3.4 per cent increase in the consumer price index during 1971 was the lowest annual increase since a 3 per cent increase in 1967. The index went up 4.7 in 1968, 6.1 per cent in 1969 and 5.5 per cent in 1970.

The price index for services increased 0.3 per cent, with higher charges for household services such as gas, electricity, telephone rates and property taxes accounting for almost three-fourths of this increase.

The BLS said that in the four months after the wage-price freeze was imposed in August, the consumer price index rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 2.4 per cent, although increasing at twice this rate in December. During the six months from March through August the index increased at an annual rate of 4.1 per cent.

This appeared to indicate that the price freeze slowed considerably the rate of advance in the cost of living, but that the pace stepped up again as soon as the freeze was lifted and increases in prices were allowed under Phase II.

Burglary Case Hearing Set

Steven Tristano, 19, of no known address, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of burglary.

Preliminary hearing was set for Feb. 8.

Tristano was arrested Jan. 4 after he allegedly broke into the San Geronimo summer residence of a San Francisco doctor.

Demos Charge Nixon Has Ignored Pledges

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Democrats charged President Nixon today with needlessly prolonging the Vietnam War while shortchanging domestic needs and ignoring his pledges to put America's interests first.

They leveled their attacks on the President in a nationally televised reply to the State of the Union address he delivered Thursday to a joint House-Senate session. Nixon had painted a generally rosy picture of homefront developments and of prospects for a generation of peace.

Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, one of a panel of Senate and House members sharing 55 minutes of air time donated to them by the networks, said Nixon could have withdrawn all U.S. forces from Vietnam within nine months after he was elected.

Instead, he said, the withdrawal is being drawn out over four years at the cost of 20,000 American lives.

Church warned that the nation will "stay chained to this senseless war" until Nixon is replaced in the White House.

Rep. John Brademas of Indiana said Nixon had paid lip service to critical needs of school children but that time after time had "shortchanged" the educational programs enacted by the Democratic Congress.

Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan of Missouri, another panel member, said Nixon's response to consumer interests in every case had been "timid and indecisive."

Whereas he claimed to have put the brakes on inflation, she said living costs continue to rise and that interest rates are so high that interest payments cost home buyers as much as twice the price of the house.

Rep. Martha Griffiths of Michigan challenged Nixon to support the House-passed constitutional amendment to guarantee women's rights.

Rep. Ralph H. Metcalf of Illinois, one of 13 black House members, assailed Nixon for misordering priorities by proposing a multi-billion dollar new space outlay while neglecting needs of the minorities and the poverty stricken.

Church acknowledged that by next November's election Nixon will have withdrawn almost all of the U.S. ground troops in Southeast Asia.

However, Church commented: "But that withdrawal, from start to finish, could have been completed within nine months. Instead it's being drawn out over four agonizing years, during which 20,000 more young Americans have been killed and 100,000 maimed and wounded."

"The end of the war is not even in sight," Church said. "Neither is the end of the bombing, which is no longer limited to Vietnam, but now extends to Laos and Cambodia as well."

Speaking in nationwide television, Church said "until we elect a Democratic president pledged to the total withdrawal of all American forces, we will stay chained to this senseless war. More of our pilots will die, and more will be taken prisoner."

Another member of the nine-man panel, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas charged that in 1968 Nixon made "huge promises designed to make Americans believe that all of the answers could come from the White House —that the crime problem would be solved if only he became president.

ALVIN TOFFLER
Will lecture

Critic On Change To Talk Feb. 8

Alvin Toffler, social critic, lecturer and author of the best-selling book "Future Shock," will speak on the "Superindustrial Revolution" at 8 p.m. Feb. 24 at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building at the Civic Center.

"Future Shock" deals with the impact of high-speed change on Americans and their ideas on marriage, children and jobs.

Toffler's current round of lectures is the result of hundreds of interviews with Nobel prize winners, psychiatrists, scientists, student radicals, artists, businessmen and government officials.

Toffler's appearance is sponsored by the parents group of the Marin County Day School. Proceeds will benefit the group's scholarship fund.

Free Tax Help Will Be Offered

Marin and Southern Sonoma taxpayers may obtain free help in preparing their federal income tax returns by phoning or visiting their local Internal Revenue Service office, according to R.F. Harless, district director of the IRS for Northern California.

Harless said last year more than 1.35 million inquiries were handled in the Northern California.

The IRS offices in San Rafael, Federal Building, Third and D streets, and in Santa Rosa, 2403 Professional Drive, are available for consultation.

Incentive Program Inefficient: Reagan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan Thursday said the state's $52 million Work Incentive program (WIN) was inefficient and costly, in essence agreeing with a legislative committee staff report on the job training project.

At a news conference, Reagan defended the administration of the program by the Department of Human Resources Development, but added, "I cannot deny the faults of WIN."

"It is inefficient. It is extra costly for the good it does," he said.

The 46-page study said Wednesday that WIN was an expensive and inefficient failure and was "insensitive" to the needs of the people it attempts to serve.

The report, prepared by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee staff and released by its chairman, Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, said that 80 per cent of the persons who enroll in the program drop out before completing it.

The governor declared that California has participated "more successfully" in WIN than any other state.

Reagan said, "We have utilized more training slots. We have had more or a greater percentage of our people participating than are unemployed than any other state. We have secured a more higher percentage of employment than any other state ..."

He added, however, "I was sorry when it came about. There was no way we couldn't cooperate. It was the only game in town. But it has the same built-in faults as so many of the federal manpower programs do."

California is required by the federal government to have the program. Up to 80 per cent of the funds to run it are also provided by the federal government.

The committee staff report eport recommended that administration of WIN be shifted to the Department of Rehabilitation because HRD does not have the necessary "competence and understanding."

McGovern Endorsed By Catholic Priest

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., today endorsed Sen. George S. McGovern for the Democratic nomination for President because of McGovern's long opposition to the Vietnam war.

Drinan, the only Roman Catholic priest ever elected to Congress, said McGovern, the son of a Wesleyan Methodist minister, for 15 years "has been waging a campaign of candor and reason on behalf of the moral principles upon which American democracy is founded."

Drinan told a news conference that McGovern had been clearer in his opposition to the war than fellow New Englander Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, the acknowledged front runner for the nooination. Muskie, meanwhile, picked up the endorsement of a 12th Senator, Harrison A. Williams Jr. of New Jersey.

Drinan said McGovern has an "excellent chance" of winning the April 25 Massachusetts primary especially if youthful voters "will turn out in very substantial numbers ... they can be the turning point."

Despite his support for McGovern, Drinan said he would not disavow his statements of 1970 that he would support Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., if he decided to run for the presidency.

However, hd noted that Kennedy was not running in the Massachusatts primary. He called Kennedy "an outstanding American who gives enormous leadership" and "I would be happy if he were a candidate."

Drinan, former dean of the Boston Law School, cited McGovern's opposition to U.S. involvement in Indochina starting with his statement in 1963 that it was not necessary for the national security of the United States.

"Sen. McGovern has followed that opinion without deviation and without faltering," said Drinan. "For eight years Sen. McGovern has stated on every possible occasion what he reiterated on March 27, 1971 in these words: 'The war in Indochina is the greatest military, political, economic and moral blunder in our national history.'"

Reagan Eyes Fund Plight Of Colleges

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan has attempted to ease the community colleges' worries about a possible $40 million drop in revenue next year.

The income loss affecting, among others, the Marin Community College District, could come because of the new state law lowering the legal age of adulthood from 21 to 18. This could mean a $28 million cut in state support and a $12 million loss in other revenues.

The cut in state aid would result from the fact that the state pays less support to the schools for adults than it does for students who are legally minors.

(The Marin district was warned of the implications of the new law at a meeting Wednesday night, although the amount of money that would be lost to the district had not been determined.)

If the reclassification of an estimated 50,000 community college students who are 18, 19 and 20 years of age as adults were to be used for school support purposes, the colleges could lose $28 million.

But Reagan said during a news conference yesterday that his new state budget does not cut the schools' support on grounds that the reclassified students are legally adults.

"The money is in the budget," Reagan said. "I think it is just a question of finding a technical answer to a technicality."

A spokesman for the governor said later that Reagan was not promising the money to the schools, but said Reagan was "concerned" about the problem and was "studying" it.

The remaining $12 million loss to the schools could come if 18-year-olds can legally establish residence in a community college district.

This could mean out-of-state students would not have to pay tuition. It would also allow students to attend schools outside of their local community college district ithout charge. Currently, students who travel beyond the district have their fees paid by the district where their parents live.

Several lawmakers have introduced bills which would exempt the community colleges from the 18-year-old adulthood law for purposes of tuition and state school aid.

Stanford Tuition Will Be Boosted

STANFORD (UPI) —Stanford University announced Thursday that it was boosting the annual undergraduate tuition from $2,610 to $2,850 in September.

Plans for the $240 increase were disclosed by university officers in their annual review of next year's budget and related matters with the faculty senate.

The officials also disclosed they were trimming nearly $1.3 million from continuing costs during 1972-73.

Police Pay Increase Request Considered

A committee of the Sausalito City Council met last night with representatives of the police department to consider requests for an additional $28,539 in pay and benefits, but adjourned without making a decision.

City Mgr. Albert R. St. Cyr said the finance committee — Councilmen Wyman Hicks and Earl F. Dunphy — asked for more information on the city's projected financial shape in June.

The 5 per cent raises requested by the 28-man police force will be considered again after the additional information is supplied, either at another finance committee meeting or by the full city council, St. Cyr said.

The city manager said the police are asking the 5 per cent raise to be retroactive to Jan. 1 and to run through the end of the current fiscal year on June 30.

The raise would cost $16,627 per year, St. Cyr estimated, and the requested fringe benefits — time-and-one-half for overtime, additional vacation days, increased uniform allowance, a dental plan and a bigger contribution to the retirement fund — would cost $11,912 per year. The cost to the city would be less if the raises were adopted for anything less than a full year, he said.

St. Cyr said the committee asked him to discuss pay requests with organizations representing other city workers and to submit a report on what those employees want.

Car Theft Trial Set Feb. 28

Richard Lee Schmidt, 20, of Santa Rosa, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to two counts of car theft.

Trial was set for the week of Feb. 28.

Schmidt was arrested last month by Sonoma County authorities on a Marin County warrant charging him with the theft of two vemicles last Nov. 5.

According to an affidavit filed by the district attorney's office, Schmidt is accused of stealing a car belonging to Marie Smith of Sonoma County. He allegedly then left her vehicle in Nicasio and stole another car there owned by George Roberts of Nicasio.

Completion Date March 2 For Miwok Valley School

The Old Adobe School District board, Petaluma, learned last night that its new school should be completed by March 2 and that all students should finally be off double sessions by the middle of that month.

The board granted a brief time extension to the Colombini Construction Co., which holds a contract to build Miwok Valley School on St. Francis Drive, and was told the facility should be finished by March 2. Principal Robert Parker said he expected the school would open for students by mid-month with an enrollment of more than 400.

Students scheduled to attend the new school have been housed at La Tercera School. Parker said the crowded situation there should be relieved with students returning to single-session classes unless an unexpected number of new students are enrolled.

The board also awarded a $257,800 contract to the James Construction Co. for an eight-classroom addition to the new school. Parker said it should be completed in early fall. Meanwhile, contracts totaling $17,000 for furniture for the new school were awarded to school enterprises of Novato and Kawamoto Associates of Los Angeles.

Eng's A Favorite For Chinese Cuisine — The Chinese Go There

You know what they say about Chinese restaurants:

Find one that is frequented by the Chinese themselves and you'll find a place that serves good food and serves it reasonably.

There are about 35 Chinese families living in the central Marin area, I am told, and from time to time just about every one of them visits Eng's on downtown B Street in San Rafael.

Recently Eng's has become more popular than ever - both with the Chinese here and from out of town - and with the local residents. Glenn Eng has brought in a new chef — Ben Kee Hom from San Francisco and he has made a number of additions. For the past 10 years he has been the day chef at the Nam Yuen Restaurant on Washington Street.

Like many Chinese restaurants, Eng's is a family operation. Right now, Mrs. Eng is visiting in Hawaii for a time. But Glenn works here every day. His daughter is there too — sometimes her husband. And a family operated restaurant is the same in any language — plain comfortable. You get to know these people and dining with them is like dining in your home.

Glenn has remodeled this place many times in his 11 or 12 years here. But one thing he can't do with it is make it larger. So there may be occasions when you'll have to wait for a table.

If you are not one to make up your own combinations, the family gourmet Chinese dinner is a good bet. You don't need to give advance notice on this. Price is $4 and you'll find it satisfies your complete appetite. Glenn and his chef are turning over something else in their minds and before very long they probably will come up with a special dinner for groups.

There is an excellent Chinese lunch plate over rice at $1.75 and this has become a favorite of many business people.

THE COLORFUL El Paseo Dining Room in Mill Valley is now open under its new ownership after being closed for remodeling, and is serving dinners every day except Tuesday. Hours of service are from 5:30 to 10 p.m. No lunches are served.

The new owners Mark Bottmeyer and Gunther Kollner, who purchased from Mary Harkins, went to considerable trouble and expense in their remodeling — particularly in the kitchen where new equipment has been added and other revisions have been made to bring everything up to present code requirements.

The dining room retains its basic decor, with a few additions and touches to emphasize the French and European motif. The menu runs to traditional French dishes and dinners are in the $3.50 to $5.50 range, including soup and salad and coffee, but not dessert.

In addition, El Paseo also offers a good selection of appetizers — escargots, pates, hearts of palm and the like. And there is quite a selection of wines — French, German and California.

El Paseo has been a popular restaurant for years and I believe you will find it continues as a Mill Valley favorite.

DON'T HOLD that extra bottle of champagne on the shelf too long before opening it — so say the experts.

They recommend not much more than six months — although they agree that in a cool place it may last much longer. The bubbles go first. The wine that's left may be tasty enough — but it isn't champagne and you can probably get a good quiet wine for less than you paid for the bubbly.

You don't need a special occasion for champagne. Try it with leftovers and see how they are pepped up. Or this spring, try it with strawberries.

THE CAPRICE in Tiburon has added Mondays to its days of serving lunches — making it five days a week, Mondays through Fridays. With its outlook over Raccoon Strait and Angel Island it's a beautiful spot for that "special" lunch.

Dinners are still being served nightly.

THERE WILL BE Sunday music at the Black Point Inn starting Jan. 30.

Jess Fisher is adding a jazz group called the Chris Ibanez Trio to play from 2 to 6 p.m. on Sunday afternoons. Chris has just returned from a concert trip of Europe. There will be a $1 admission charge at the door.

FRESH SALMON in January? It can't be.

But it is. I have in mind the fresh mini silver salmon at the Grotto in San Rafael. It is being flown in fresh every day from a salmon farm in Washington — and is it going over!

As per her usual custom, Ursula Valan takes out all the bones before serving — so all you have to do is fork up the tender meat and spend your time eating it.

NEXT MONTH, Ron Brandes plans on serving Sunday brunch at the Bib 'n' Rib on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile. Freshly squeezed orange juice, Missouri ham and several Ozark items will be on the menu.

Incidentally, Ron has had excellent results marketing his special barbecue sacue. He now has it on sale in about 150 stores and it's being distributed nationally.

A POPULAR eating place at the east end of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge is The Point at 32 Washington and Standard Avenue after you leave the bridge.

Sirloin steak dinner is $2.95. New York steak is $3.95. Spareribs and prawns are also served.

Open for cocktails and dinners Friday and Saturday from 6 to 11 p.m. and on Sundays from 4 to 10 p.m.

FOR A SUNDAY BRUNCH is an old-fashioned Marin County atmosphere, don't forget the Blue Rock Inn in Larkspur. Huevos rancheros steak and eggs and Monte Cristo sandwiches are among the favorite servings.

HERE'S A TIP handed down from the old Romans, who used to put on some swinging parties in their day.

Klemperer To Retire From Public Conducting

LONDON (UPI)—Dr. Otto Klemperer, 86, German-born director of New Philharmonia Orchestra, will not conduct again in public, a spokesman said today.

He said Klemperer "can no longer undertake the strain of public performances."

Klemperer, one of the last living members of the "Golden Generation" of European conductors which produced the late Arturo Toscanini, George Szell, Bruno Walter, Fritz Reiner and others, last conducted in London in September.

The spokesman said Klemperer will continue to make occasional recordings.

10 Christian Settlers Slain

COTABATO CITY, Philippines (UPI)—Armed Moslem gunmen Thursday ambushed and killed 10 Christian settlers in the latest flare-up of intermittent Moslem-Christian blood feuds.

The Philippine constabulary said the incident happened in a village near Pikit town, Cotabato del Norte province, some 450 miles south of Manila.

The fatalities, including four preschool children, were among 11 persons aboard a jeep-bus passenger vehicle waylaid as it negotiated a village road.

BART Director Election Sought

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill requiring that directors of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District be elected and cutting their number from 12 to nine has been introduced by Assemblyman Carlos Bee, D-Hayward.

Bee said Thursday his measure would make the directors, who are currently appointed, "more responsive to the people who are paying taxes to support the rapid transit system."

Avoid traffic. Swim to Dominic's.

If we're to keep up with the competition in the restaurant business these days, we have to offer an advantage of some kind besides just truly superior food and drink. One day someone noticed that our location on the San Rafael Yacht Harbor meant customers could swim directly to our private docks from almost any point in the Bay Area. We checked to see if any of our competitors were stressing this, and none were. So if you don't want to fight traffic getting to a fine restaurant, now you know what to do.

IT'S 'SUPERMAN DAY'

The town of Metropolis, Ill., has adopted Superman as its city image. In the comic book hero's honor, a 16-foot high painting of Superman was erected and the town today is celebrating "Superman Day." Metropolis, as comics fans will remember, was home base for Superman.

Drainage Plan May Cost More

San Rafael city officials, opening bids for an East San Rafael drainage project, learned yesterday the project may cost slightly more than had been estimated.

Pacific Excavators of Albany submitted low bids on two of the project's three phases — $541,555 for a storm drainage facility, including a pumping station, channel, ponding area and pipe, and $270,250 for construction of a bayfront levee.

Bay Cities Paving and Grading of Richmond submitted the low bid of $514,105 for the third phase — construction of 4,000 feet of roadway east of Simms Street and miscellaneous drainage work, according to San Rafael City Engineer Ely Caillouette Jr.

Total of the three low bids, $1,325,910, was $87,618 more than the project engineer's estimate of $1,238,292.

The city council is scheduled to hold a public hearing Feb. 14 on creation of an assessment district to finance the drainage project.

The proposed area is roughly between a ridge line southwest of Highway 17, the eastern extension of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Highway 101 and the existing bayfront dike.

If property owners in the mostly undeveloped area give their approval to the project and the assessments, the council is expected to create the district and accept the bids, Caillouette said.

A small controversy marked the bid opening yesterday, caused by an error on the bid specifications sent to contractors that stated bids would be opened at 11 a.m.

The actual opening, as set in the official publication of the call for bids, was 2 p.m. That was the legal time, Caillouette said.

Six bids were received by 11 a.m., he said, and four more came in by 2 p.m. Three of the early bidders objected to the 2 p.m. opening, saying the bids should have been opened at 11 a.m.

Both of the low bidders submitted their offers after 11 a.m., Caillouette said.

Family Group Continues Plan For Expansion

The Marin County Family and Children's Services Advisory Committee has continued to Feb. 15 a proposal that it expand its membership to include more persons and agencies involved in child care.

The proposed expansion stems from authorization Tuesday from the board of supervisors for the committee to develop a long-range child care plan for the county.

According to Donna Huckins of the County Department of Public Social Services, the proposal was discussed at length Tuesday by the 30-member committee, but action was delayed.

The committee, formed several years ago, acts as a citizens' advisory council to the welfare department.

Change In Dues-Paying System Sought By ABAG Committee

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — The executive committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments last night called for a bylaws change to impose a flat dues levy in addition to per capita fees imposed on the eight county and 84 city members.

Executive Director J. Julien Baget was instructed to write each member before the ABAG general assembly meeting Feb. 24 to explain the need for fixed annual dues to replace shrinking support funds from federal and other sources.

Lizette Weiss, ABAG information officer, said there was extensive committee argument over the flat dues proposal. The plan originally called for $200 a year from each member, plus 4 cents per capita, in place of the present levy of 3 cents per capita.

The executive committee told Baget to stress that through ABAG, local agencies received $150 million in federal assistance in transportation, open space and water-sewage programs.

The proposed dues change would produce $43,000 more in annual income. The executive committee's finance subcommittee last night reported the funds were needed to maintain the regional planning program at the same level as budgeted in 1971-72, or $585,000.

The executive committee reviewed the entire ABAG budget last night, and voted to recommend its adoption at the general meeting at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 24 at the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco.

The proposed budget included a lower figure for continuation of existing ABAG programs — $815,000, compared to $904,000 for 1971-72 — but provided that if other revnue sources can be found, proposed new programs might bring the total 1972-73 expenditures up to $1,310,000.

The suggested programs included $100,000 for a regional community antenna television service study, $225,000 for a joint mass transit study and tesser programs for solid waste, criminal justice, and other planning programs in cooperation with other agencies.

The ABAG Executive Committee Also:

GNOSS FIELD — Endorsed Marin County's application for a $16,000 federal grant to finance a master plan for Gnoss Field, the Marin County Airport.

NOVATO PARK — Endorsed a City of Novato request for $251,000 in federal Department of Housing and Urban Development matching funds to assist purchase of the 67-acre O'Hair property near San Marin High School as a community park and recreation site.

SYMPOSIUM — Heard Baget announce plans for a day-long forum on urban growth policy, beginning at 11 a.m. Feb. 24 in the Jack Tar Hotel, to "get people thinking about" possibilities of limiting Bay Area population increases. Participants will include Robert Finch, counsel to President Richard M. Nixon; other federal and industrial spokesmen; San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto; Sierra Club advisors and minority group leaders.

Court Ruling Delays Redistricting Trauma

We will have to worry along for a couple more years with the same state Senate and Assembly districts. The California Supreme Court says so.

This will not create any great wrench for Marin and Sonoma citizens. And it ends, for now, a lot of uncertainty as to who represents whom under redistricting.

WE IN MARIN will have one change, though. We will all have the same congressman. The court in effect overrode Gov. Ronald Reagan's veto of congressional reapportionment voted by the Legislature, declaring that plan would stand.

This means that Rep. William S. Mailliard of San Francisco, or whoever succeeds him if he fails of re-election, will speak in Congress for all of Marin. It removes our last tie to Rep. Don H. Clausen of Crescent City, who represented all of Marin when first elected and now represents the northernmost portion. Clausen (or his successor) will remain Sonoma's congressman.

THE COURT, in its decision invalidating the state Senate and Assembly reapportionments, in effect agreed with Governor Reagan that the legislators had created "tortuous boundary lines around artificial and bizarre shaped districts, aimed solely at perpetuating themselves in office."

The way Chief Justice Donald R. Wright put it in the ruling: "We believe that it will be far less destructive of the integrity of the legislative process to allow the existing legislative districts, imperfect as they may be, to survive for an additional two years than for this court to accept, even temporarily, plans that are at best truncated products of the legislative process."

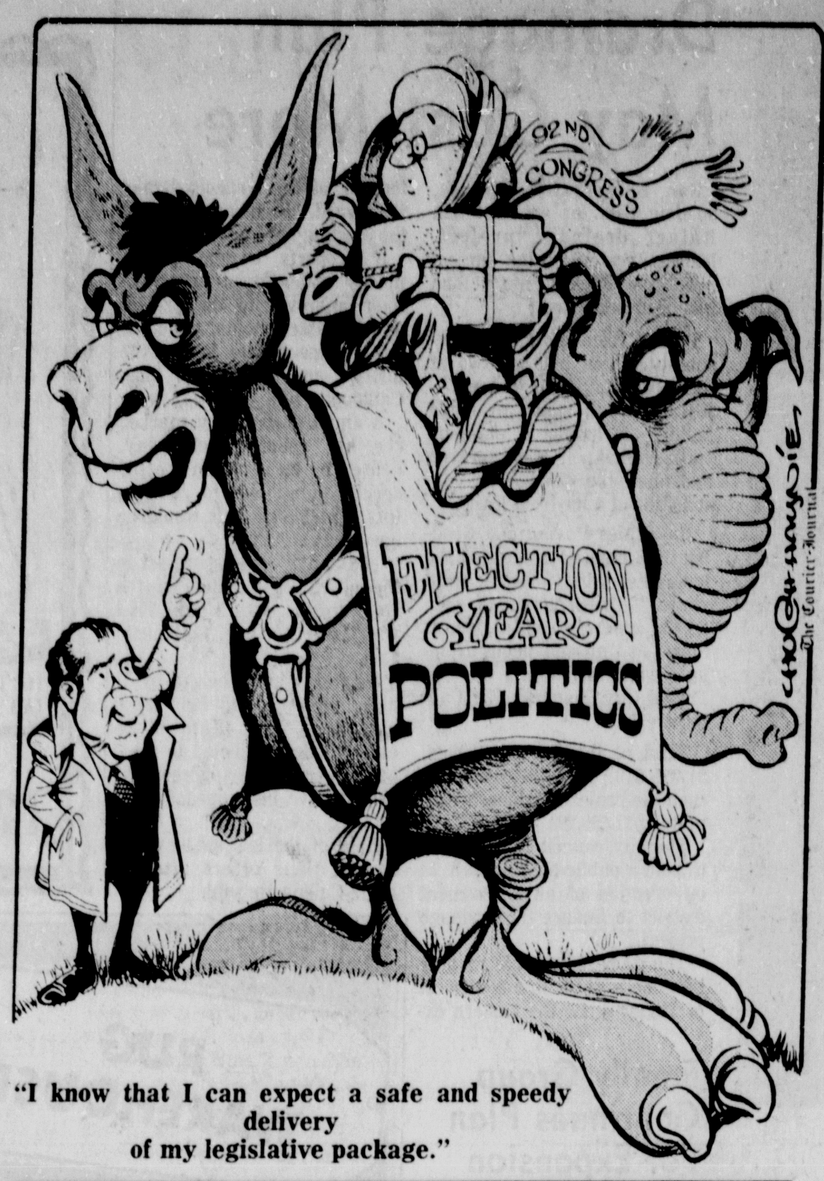
THEN THE COURT ruled that the State Reapportionment Commission could not do the redistricting, as the State Constitution says it must if the legislature fails. It found, as had the same court in a 1965 decision, that the commission somehow violates the 14th Amendment.

Since the U.S. Constitution is silent on who shall jraw the lines for congressional districts, that would seem to be a matter left to the states under the 10th Amendment: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people." But courts in recent years seem to have forgotten that particular item in the Bill of Rights.

Instead, the court told the Legislature to try again, within two years, else it will do the job itself.

THIS MEANS that, if the state court's ruling stands, we likely will go through the same process again that we went through in 1971, when the legislators were so absorbed with preserving their "safe" districts that they met all year and accomplished little.

It is not a pleasant prospect. But at least we know where we stand for this year's elections.



"I know that I can expect a safe and speedy delivery of my legislative package."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Larkspur Mayor Defends Approach

As mayor of Larkspur I cannot let a recent letter which appeared on your editorial page go without comment.

Our city council was challenged because we refused to approve an emergency 90-day moratorium on construction. The inference, and in some cases the direct charge, is that Larkspur is now undergoing unrestricted growth, and that our city has no control over development within its borders.

It may come as a surprise to some in Larkspur, but our city does have a master plan. It is only five years old and it was approved after lenthy and detailed hearings. Our present zoning ordinance was adopted after full consideration of hillside as well as level development, and it slashed density from previous levels by 33⅓ per cent.

I believe the crucial question here is orderly government. There was no evidence — nor does the letter I am responding to even attempt to show — that the 90-day moratorium was necessary for the health, safety and general welfare of Larkspur. Our city council neither yielded "to threats of legal and economic actions," as the letter charged, nor reacted hastily in the face of pressure from well-meaning residents. We acted to maintain orderly government in our community and to protect all areas of interest.

Our city governmentwill hold hearings on proposed changes in our zoning ordinances and our master plan. We have a knowledgeable and professional consultant to advise us, and we must proceed in an orderly and responsible manner to consider the future growth of Larkspur.

The orderly process is the democratic process, the fair way for all of our residents, and that is the process I intend to follow.

Triumph Of Forces Of Evil Is Feared

It is inconceivable to me, that a Marin judge could be killed, a district attorney crippled for life, a courtroom bombed, and those accused of the crime attempting to bulldoze their way to freedom, claiming prejudice in Marin and now the same in another county.

The forces of evil seem to be giving law and order a rough time, and what really hurts, is that they seem to be getting lots of assistance from city officials, administrators and attorneys. I have wondered of late whether there is much left of our values, our sense of right and wrong, our ability to keep the ship of state on an even keel, as it sails through the stormy seas of the 20th Century.

It is like watching a bad movie, as we survey the scene right here in our own back yard in lovely Marin, with the narcotic and drug problem running rampant, and its agony on the young. How do you fight back against this evil? It takes guts, it involves high risks of personal safety, it also takes secrecy to ferret out the pushers, especially to a woman who dares to become an undercover agent and help to fight back against this cancer that is undermining our society.

By way of thanks for her efforts, on the witness stand, under oath, in Fairfax, she is subjected to ridicule, to embarrassment, demands to disclose her activities, even to names and locations of places raided where she was involved. Nothing of course is mentioned about Chief Orr and her, off duty, giving their time to appear before local civic clubs with films and lectures on the danger of narcotics. Their police work does not require this, but it shows they are both dedicated to law enforcement on or off duty. If they are not vindicated by the review board, then the forces of evil will have just won another victory, and crime marches on.

Government Employees Have The Best Of It

As former member of the Fourth Estate (some 38-odd years), I have never written a letter to the editor, but there is always a first time.

I am quite interested in the theory espoused by certain members of the California Employees Association that they should be paid the equivalent of wages in private industry.

I wonder how thoroughly they have compared the lot of the state, county and even city employee to the one in private industry. For instance — paid days off without being ill, vacations, holidays, accumulated sick leave, etc. Unless industry and its unions have made vast strides since I was active in it, I am inclined to believe the state and other civil service employees have the best of it — especially in rate of calculation of pensions and years necessary to gain them.

Growth Increases Demands on Government

Your editorial of Jan. 12, asking that increases in the number of governmental employees be directly related to population increases, seems to me lacking in factual basis.

When Farmer Brown's family lives on his 360 acres, it is pretty much up to him if his house is a firetrap or where he puts it, how he disposes of his sewage or gets his water. His children go to a small school. He accepts the difficulty of reaching cultural centers, and open space is all around him.

The minute Farmer Brown sells his land to a subdivider, and many people come to live in close proximity, it's a whole new ballgame.

Government must pass ordinances on building setbacks from property lines; it must devise building codes for closely packed houses and commercial buildings; it must pass subdivision ordinances and the like. Extensive provisions must be made for water service and sewage disposal, for police and fire protection.

The school system must grow, and with more pupils, valid reasons are found for asking for special programs to encourage slgw or fast learners, or those with scientific or musical talents. The new communities want libraries, parks and transportation facilities.

None of these ordinances or programs is worth the paper it's written on unless you have qualified professionals to enforce laws and carry out programs. I have seen too many sad reminders of the "good old days" when taxes were low and Marin County did not enforce its building codes to have any doubt on that score . . .

Jackson's Campaign May Force Democrats To Speak To Issues

WASHINGTON — The private agreement among the Democratic presidential candidates to be kind to each other won't last beyond the early days of hard campaigning in the Florida primary.

And it shouldn't. It is bad for the voters.

The reason it is bad is that the great need is to clarify the differences between the candidates so that the voters can choose which candidate they prefer —and why.

This doesn't mean that the Democratic rivals need cut each other up with abusive attacks. That wouldn't help anybody.

But don't the Democratic aspirants believe in candor? They talk a lot about it — for others. What about the people's right to know why each candidate believes he should be nominated over his rivals?

WHEN DEMOCRATIC National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien extracted the arrangement from his team of hopefuls, it wasn't hard to get because agreement simply said in effect that they would devote themselves to attacking the President instead of each other.

The President, whether he is Democratic or Republican, is a fair target, but attacking the President sheds virtually no light on why the voters should choose one Democrat over the other as the party's own nominee.

I am not advocating that the Democrats should begin attacking each other. That reveals nothing of the fitness of one over the other to be President.

So far the two Republicans who want to derail President Nixon from renomination are conducting a much more forthright and explicit campaign than has so far emerged on the other side. They are not criticizing the Democratic candidates; they are criticizing the man they want to replace, Richard Nixon.

Thus the Republican conservative congressman, John Ashbrook, is speaking bluntly as to why he sees the President as too liberal, and Republican liberal Congressman Paul McCloskey is faulting the President because he is too conservative. And they spell out their bill of particulars — Ashbrook that Nixon went back on his conservative campaign promises and McCloskey because Nixon hasn't gone back on them enough, particularly on ending the Vietnamese war.

Such a campaign gives the voters a basis for deciding whether they want to help nominate Ashbrook or McCloskey or Nixon.

IT IS EVIDENT that Sen. Henry Jackson will conduct this kind of campaign in Florida and it will be all to the good if the other Democrats do the same.

He is beginning to ask his fellow Democratic candidates what has happened to their promises, after voting to kill the SST, that appropriations would be forthcoming to give jobs to the aerospace unemployed in important environmental projects.

He is asking Senators Muskie and Humphrey how they can consistently pledge all-out aid to Israel and expect to live up to it by cutting the defense budget billions of dollars. He is asking Senator McGovern why he isn't campaigning to strengthen the hands of the police and the courts to reduce violence and crime. Isn't safety from violence and crime in the streets, he asks, a civil right which needs greater protection?

He is asking his rivals to explain why they don't practice what they preach when they call for large-scale busing but put their own children in overwhelmingly white, private schools.

They may well have their answers on these matters, but they ought to be giving them to the voters now. The need is to exhibit the differences between the rival candidates, not conceal them. That's what Jackson is trying to do.

'Six Great Goals' Still Unmet As Congress Opens Second Session

By RICHARD L. STROUT

The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — This is the second session of an election year Congress, with the President of a rival party.

In the normal pattern of such things this means the session will be short, wordy, and partisan.

What it accomplishes will depend on what the Democratic Congress does with Mr. Nixon's last year's "six great goals" and how long it will take to pass 14 annual supply bills, plus a batch of supplemental appropriation and authorization measures.

In general, President Nixon will presumably assume a stance of being above the political battle and putting the onus on Congress; Congress will be eager to make a record and get out of here to go back and campaign.

A third of the Senate, plus all of the House, are up for election. Half a dozen senators and supporters are out campaigning for the presidency already.

MOST OF THE ISSUES of session two, 92nd Congress, already are fairly visible, but there may be one new, big one — taxes.

For the last 10 years Congress has been on a tax-cutting spree and the Treasury is running short of funds. Just last year in the Tax Act of 1971 Congress passed a tax cut substantially in the form recommended by President Nixon, designed to stimulate business. After the initial introductory year the revenue loss will be in the order of $9 billion a year, of which around $8 billion goes to corporations (7 per cent investment tax credit, plus new asset depreciation) and about $1 billion to individuals.

By one estimate this is the largest corporate tax cut in one year in American history. Federal revenues have been cut by taxes $50 billion a year in the past four years, it is estimated.

Mr. Nixon must tell the only midly sympathetic Democratic Congress that he faces a big deficit. This deficit figure can be manipulated to some degree by bookkeeping devices, used by various presidents, but the total red is expected to run over $20 billion.

Taxes will be on everybody's lips, but in an election year they are not likely to be raised. Expectation is, however, that some form of federal consumption taxes will be discussed — a national sales tax (sometimes called by its European name, value added tax) which is a gusher as a revenue producer.

A one per cent tax can raise $5 billion. Economists don't like it because it is regressive.

PRESIDENT NIXON'S "six great goals" of last year are welfare reform, revenue sharing, executive reorganization, health insurance, and environmental clean-up, plus expansion of the economy. The first five require congressional action.

Last year Mr. Nixon adjured Congress to be "the greatest Congress in America's history," declared that the "long, dark night of the American spirit" is ending, and that the nation is "ready for the lift of a driving dream" and called for a "new American revolution — as profound, as far-reaching, as exciting as that first revolution almost 200 years ago."

The first session of Congress ended with a major row over foreign aid which will be picked up at once by the new session. Foreign affairs, indeed, may get unusual attention. The authorization bill covering military and economic aid awaits a final House vote, and will expire June 30 unless renewed.

Congress has been moving to a test of power against the White House on foreign issues. Mr. Nixon has deepened the issue by resumption of large scale bombing in Vietnam, but has undercut the doves by reducing U.S. ground troops by half and starting preparations for his visit to Peking, around Feb. 21.

Once again there will be efforts in congress to legislate an end of the war.

HERE ARE the "six great goals" and what has been done about them:

Economic expansion: Mr. Nixon switched programs and has not required legislative approval after the 1971 tax cut.

Executive reorganization: Postponed.

Welfare reform: (once cited as top priority): Part postponed (Aug. 15 economic message); part passed by House and pending in Senate.

Health insurance: Some Democrats call Nixon proposals inadequate, and a House committee will draft alternatives.

Board Of Equalization Redistricting Overlooked

By EARL G. WATERS

It is ironic that with all that has been written about reapportionment, little has been said about the one redistricting bill which passed and was signed by the governor.

This was SB 19 by San. Mervyn Dymally, which, for the first time in 90 years, redistricts the State Board of Equalization. This agency was established by the Constitution in 1879 to administer taxes, assess utilities and guide local property taxation. It is composed of four members elected from districts and the state controller, elected statewide.

The original four districts created in 1880 were based upon the then existing districts of the state's four congressmen. Until this year the board districts were never changed.

IT WAS PROBABLY because of this that two of its members hold records for being in state elective offices. Richard L. Collins of Redding served from 1908 until his death in 1948 and his 40 years of serviceis longer than any other person in California history. George Reilly of San Francisco was elected in 1938 and is still serving.

Besides Reilly, others now on the board are Richard Nevin of Los Angeles, William Bennett of San Rafael and John Lynch of Fresno. Houston Flournoy, state controller, serves ex-officio and is the only Republican on the board.

Bennett is a newcomer serving his first term. Nevin and Lynch were elected in 1958. They rode the coattails of Edmund G. Brown in the Democratic landslide which swept Brown into the governor's office and carried almost everyone else on the ticket, most of whom were political unknowns.

One of these unknowns was Lynch, until then a small town accountant, making his first bid for public office.

IN THE REAPPORTIONMENT bill signed by Governor Reagan, the district represented by Bennett is enlarged to take in some South Bay counties. Altogether it includes some 29 northern counties. Reilly' district starts in San Francisco and extends down the coast to Los Angeles. It also shoots off from Monterey and picks up some valley and mountain counties over to the Nevada border. Nevin's district was reduced and now covers only a part of Los Angeles County.

Lynch, who enjoyed a district primarily of valley counties, underwent a drastic change. Starting with Fresno, the new district runs south, picking up all of the counties south and east of Los Angeles. This was the only district which changed substantially in political complexion.

Lynch was handed the home of entrenched Republicans, Orange County, along with San Diego, which leans heavily to Republicans. These and other additions to Lynch's district have virtually assured the Republicans of Lynch's seat come next election.

THOSE WHO HAD a hand in the game will most certainly deny any hidden motives. But the underlying reason Lynch got the treatment was his contemptuous attitude toward the Legislature.

Following his election in 1958 his advisors urged him to cultivate friendships with legislators. Lynch, inflated by his victory over James Quinn, a longtime Republican board member, refused. His position was that, having been elected the same as the legislators, he didn't need any favors from them. His determination to ignore lawmakers never faltered and their handling of reapportionment as it affects him reflects the price of his stance.

Election Brings Office Holders Back To Greet The Home Folks

It's easy to tell when election time rolls around in Marin, even without a glance at the calendar.

Local politicans who have barely shown their faces in their districts for the past four years are suddenly everywhere, charming the home folks and making big promsies.

One official who can't normally even be bribed to make a public appearance before his constituents appears to be turning over a new leaf as election day approaches.

All of a sudden this suave gentleman is eager to speak to any group willing to listen, from the largest organization to the tiniest homeowners association.

It's really too bad elections aren't held more often. If they were, the representative quality of government might improve remarkably.

ALONG WITH ITS other unusual distinctions, Mill Valley is the home of perhaps the only periodical in the nation devoted solely to the study of cannabis sativa.

The quarterly Marijuana Review is published in the southern Marin community by Amorphia, the cannabis cooperative, a non-profit organization. Editor is Michael R. Aldrich, who holds a Ph.D. in marijuana studies from New York State University at Buffalo.

All profits from the little magazine and the "Acapulco Gold" cigarette papers which Amorphia manufactures and sells go toward efforts to legalize the weed.

A DETAILED REPORT and graph in the latest issue of the review (Oct.-Dec. 1971) estimates that 35 million Americans now smoke pot. The estimate is based on the number of marijuana arrests in the country, the number of seizures of the drug, and the volume of cigarette papers sold sans roll-your-own tobacco.

Also included in the publication are a study of the San Francisco Crime Commission's recent recommendation to repeal existing marijuana laws, a story on the Iranian hashish market, and an article by Stanford law professor John Kaplan, author of "Marijuana: the New Prohibition."

For the gourmet pot smoker, the review's "Kozy Kitchen Kannibis Kuisine" column features such delicacies as cream of strawberry, grass and wine soup, and caviar-marijuana brunch canapes.

Those with a penchant for the economics of the marijuana situation will be interested in "Local Scene Report," the stoned equivalent of the daily financial page, which tells what is available, what the market is, and how much it costs to turn on, from San Jose to the Virgin Islands.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Arrigoni Finds Things Tough As Behr Gets Financial Break

For years I have had a secret treat. It was to pause and listen to the happy voices of a small, congenial group of very young teenagers as they were passing by — beautiful as a garden of flowers.

This week I experienced a wonderful variation of that treat — the happy voice of a young wife, as she answered the telephone, whose husband had just come home from the hospital, all in good shape. Into my mind came Maurice Chevalier's famous line, "Thank heaven for little girls. They grow up" (and be as nice as they were.)

COUNTY SUPERVISOR Peter Arrigoni finds himself in a position I have been expecting he would as the three years of his term have rolled by. He isn't the first one to make the same mistake.

When one is elected to a nonpartisan office, with votes from a cross-section of political philosophy, it's dynamite to play along with one group almost exclusively. This alienates the group which is getting the back of the hand.

Then on the other side of the coin: Just depart from an uptight position of those you have aligned yourself with. They don't like you any more and where are you then? In the middle of the highway with traffic buzzing by in both directions. Not so good!

In the Wednesday issue of the I-J this heading, "Behr Delighted." This was in respect to the State Supreme Court's decision to let the present state district boundaries remain for this year's election. The story went on to say that "the man most delighted with the decision apparently was Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael."

THE FOLLOWING are excerpts from this column of July 17, 1970: "Behr spent $84,688 in the primary contest ... Only about two dozen of the hundreds of candidates for the 100 contested state legislative seats reported more than $20,000. . .

"Behr reported $68,525 in contributions, including $13,000 of his own money, thus leaving a deficit of $16,163. The $55,526 Behr reported as income from others included $46,675 in contributions and $8,850 in loans. This is the primary cost. There still is the cost of the final election. Let that boggle your intelligence."

I understood that the salary per year for the term would be $19,200. This means that, during the four-year term, he will receive $7,888 less than he spent for the primary alone.

No wonder he was delighted with the decision!

Bids To Be Rejected On Landscaping

Tiburon's deputy city engineer said yesterday he will recommend that none of three bids received on a landscaping project be accepted by the city council because they are too high.

The bids, for landscaping in the El Marinero Assessment District, ranged from $20,127 to $27,475, while the project was estimated to cost about $15,750.

Jesper Strandgaard, deputy city engineer, said the bids would be referred to David Heldt, the landscape architect who served as a consultant on the project.

Only upon his recommendation would he suggest the council accept one of the bids, Strandgaard said. Otherwise, the project should be put out to bid for a second time or redesigned, he said.

Valley Crest Landscaping Inc. submitted the low bid of $20,127, Strandgaard said, followed by Watkin and Bortolussi, with a $21,119 bid, and Christner Co., Inc., with a bid of $24,745.

Newman Resigns As Rec Member

The Corte Madera Parks and Recreation Commission has accepted with regret the resignation of Commissioner Charles E. Newman and invited him to be an advisor and continue as an ex-officio member.

Newman, a city policeman, submitted his resignation after a change in the city code which prohibited city employees from serving on public agencies.

The commission acted Wednesday night.

Code Used By FDR Is Cracked

DANVERS, Mass. (UPI)—A code used by Franklin D. Roosevelt in four entries of his diary that stumped crytographers was deciphered by a tool maker here in several hours.

The code-breaker, Raymond Cormier, figured out that young FDR used a system not unknown to teen-agers passing notes in class that involves giving the vowels A, E, I, O, and U the numbers one through six and leaving out certain portions of other letters, like the vertical line in the T and F and the top of the G.

The code and its apparent mystery came to Cormier's attention on Tuesday after Dr. Nona Ferdon, a researcher living in Brooklin, reported she showed the diary to all sorts of cryptographers to no avail.

"My husband came home from work," according to Cormier's wife," and said I'm going to see if I can figure this thing out.

"At one o'clock in the morning he woke me up. He was excited and said he thought he had cracked it," the wife related Thursday.

The pair called Dr. Ferdon in the morning who, after studying the tool maker's handiwork decided he had cracked the code.

The code was used in a diary entry for Nov. 22, 1903 when Roosevelt was visiting in Groton, Conn. "To Groton at 9 and got there just in time for church," he wrote. "Lunch with Aunt K's party," he said before lapsing into the code and then coming back to say "Supper with all the relatives at Whitney's Chapel in evening."

Uncoded, the middle section reads "After lunch, a never-to be forgotten walk to the river with my darling," which Dr. Ferdon said probably referred to a day spent with his future wife, Eleanor.

Reagan Hits Angela Trial Fund Pitch

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan says he is "getting impatient" with pretrial proceedings in the Angela Davis case and "it's utterly ridiculous" for the black revolutionary to ask for taxpayer funds to finance them.

Miss Davis, accused of murder, kidnap and conspiracy in the August 1970 Marin County Courthouse escape attempt in which five persons died, has filed a motion seeking state funds for her defense.

"If she wants to throw herself on the mercy of the court for a public defender that's her right," Reagan told his weekly news conference yesterday.

"But it's utterly ridiculous, this idea that she should be able to hire a battery of lawyers and carry on as she has and then send the bill to the taxpayers."

Miss Davis' trial, now scheduled for San Jose after having been shifted from San Rafael, has been delayed three times because of defense petitions. She has been in custody 15 months.

"This whole thing that is going on over there is just part of the reason why people have a growing disgust with the clogging of the courts," Reagan said.

"The accused has the right to an immediate trial. Well, I think society has the right to an immediate trial and I think a great many people, including myself, are getting impatient with this whole dragged out process."

He added a defendant without money has the right to a court appointed public defender, "but no one has ever been given the right to choose their own lawyers and build a defense and send the bill to the taxpayers."

A spokesman for Miss Davis said in San Jose that her defense already has cost $100,000. Franklin Alexander, chairman of the National United Committee to Free Angela Davis, said the money has been raised from contributions and all of it has been spent for her defense.

Special features you'll enjoy:

Ben Ostlind is a Marinite who has spent much of his life involved in aviation, as a military combat flyer, as a test pilot, as a civilian enthusiast, and as an activist in aeronautical affairs in his home county of Marin. He also has a second major interest in Marin County activities, thanks to his current profession of realtor — in the orderly development and best use of Marin's valuable land. Theron Newell, Independent-Journal reporter, has written a profile showing these and other facets of the man Ben Ostlind for readers of tomorrow's Marin Magazine.

For decades Marinites enjoyed the stories of historian Florence Donnelly about the early years of their area. Even after her death, those stories have continued to appear in the I-J Marin Magazine, for Mrs. Donnelly left behind a large stock of completed manuscripts. Now, in tomorrow's magazine, the last of those stories will be published — a history of early ranching and particularly of cattle brands in Marin County. Mrs. Donnelly's many fans who have read and often saved her stories through the years will not want to miss this final manuscript from Marin's leading historian.

WOMEN AT HOME — II

The Soap Opera Plods Along

By DIANA LOERCHER
(Second of Three Articles)
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

NEW YORK, N.Y. — A crucial area of both day and nighttime television has been receiving its share of publicity — commercials. These fall under an entirely different set of Federal Communications Commission (FCC) regulations from programs. And these rules pertain primarily to false and misleading advertising.

But another controversial aspect of commercials, which has caught the attention of the women's liberation movement, relates to the allegedly degrading image of women as portrayed in them — the housewife whose very existence seems to hinge on her wash being "whiter than white."

During my own two days of viewing I watched commercials for "magical cleaning agents," "the women's gentle laxative," feminine hygiene sprays, a cat food commercial in which a woman crawls on the floor calling her cat, "Scheherazade," and a toothpaste commercial in which a mother becomes like her daughter.

One positive sign is the inclusion of an occasional antilitter or charity commercial.

But the real force to reckon with on daytime television is the soap opera. And the king is CBS with eight to its "credit." These include old chestnuts from the 1950s such as "As the World Turns," "The Edge of Night," "The Guiding Light," "Love of Life," "Search for Tomorrow," and "The Secret Storm," as well as more recent concoctions.

NBC and ABC chalk up five and three respectively, most from the 1960s. The current favorites are NBC's "Days of Our Lives" (1965), which recently displaced the long-standing "As the World Turns" from the position of honor, and ABC's "General Hospital" (1963).

Time of origination does not appear to make that much difference either to success or content, though it is interesting to note that CBS is suffering a general decline that may indicate recycling is in order.

The most popular subjects still remain the classic ones: love, marriage, children, infidelity, divorce, illness, death, etc. There are several shows now in which murder figures prominently, and there are at least three "doctor" soaps.

Most of them, however, focus on the "closely knit family" that undergoes a series of emotional and physical catastrophes worthy of a Greek tragedy. The hybrid plot of "Days of Our Lives," for example, virtually defies recounting, but roughly it deals with a woman who reconciles with her husband so she can get her mother's inheritance and run away with a singer. This is complicated by the fact that she also loves her illegitimate son, who in turn loves his father, and so it goes.

THE FAMILY structure in the soaps is basically traditional. Mom cooks and cleans and says, "Yes dear." And the nondomesticated females who crop up every now and again tend to be either neurotic or, like the woman judge in "The Secret Storm," rather dislikable.

Black actors and actresses occasionally appear, but in "Where the Heart Is" their roles seem to ignore their blackness. Psychiatry seems to have benefited the soap opera industry commercially at least by providing it with a cornucopia of fresh mental-illness material.

Unchanged are the melodramatic devices that are endearing vestiges of the silent film days. Lugubrious electronic-organ music still swoops and crashes to portend nefarious deeds, and the characters continue to cast furtive, fraught looks at each other and the camera to let us know that all is not what it seems. Lines with double meanings are still popular, as indeed are old lines ("You're so beautiful when you smile"). It sometimes appears that more time is spent dreaming up the names of the characters (e.g. Marcus Pope) than the frequently fatuous dialogue.

According to B. Donald Grant, director of network daytime programming at NBC, and the only spokesman I interviewed who euphemistically called soaps "serials," "the content has changed, slightly, but there has been no enormous change. The stories are about love and hate and greed and passion." He further described them as "emotionally oriented" and "basically appealing."

BUT HE ADDED that there have been changes in the orientation of the shows, contrasting the difference in the way an abortion story would have been treated in the old days and the "soul searching" manner in which the issue was recently presented on "Days of Our Lives." Grant suggested that "the serials try to mirror life situations," and attributed their success to their realism.

ABC's vice-president of daytime programming, Michael Eisner, boasted that the soaps deal with every possible subject that you can imagine — women's liberation, equal rights, marital problems, drug problems, etc. "We deal with a lot more sophisticated and important issues than are dealt with in prime time."

Eisner pointed out, however, that a recent drug episode on the drug rehabilitation center Odyssey House in "One Life to Live" "did not add viewers," offering the explanation that it was "too realistic."

"Harsh reality is too much," added Eisner. " A lot of people think we deal in dirt, but we give women romance, not sex. Women don't want to see people in bed."

REALISM SEEMS to be a key point of ambiguity and ambivalence for all the spokesmen, and the general impression they conveyed was that it could be measured out in tablespoons of too much or too little that might spoil the recipe.

Darryl Hickman, a general program executive for CBS, stated that when he first began examining the soaps he was "surprised at how little all of them were dealing with vital issues. They were not really reflecting what's happening." Both he and his fellow general program executive, Tony Converse, declared that it is "very much under discussion what attitudes the soaps are going to reflect" and that "the roles of women are being reexamined."

This reexamination is doubtless somewhat inspired by the slipped ratings of CBS soaps. The question is what CBS and the other networks are going to do with them next. On the realism question both Mr. Hickman and Converse indicated that they would be willing to do a soap on the "contemporary woman," but stressed only "one" because we "don't want sameness" among the shows. Converse elaborated that "People like the soaps because they still picture the American myths, the old home 'truths' about families at the turn of the century ... Most women are still intensely moral. They are horrified by a child being born out of wedlock."

HOW DO the networks purport to know so much about their viewers?

"Research," said Converse mysteriously. "Research" is conducted on the audience to determine "what needs are fulfilled, how they perceive the shows, and what they're getting out of them." An audience profile by all three networks indicates that it is the younger married women between the ages of 18 and 48 who watch the soap operas, while the older women are drawn primarily to the game shows. One statistic ferreted out by NBC is that of the 70 million adult women in this country 48 million will tune intmone of the three networks at least once a month between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

To obtain that kind of viewer response the networks must be doing something right, must be satisfying some "need," whether for realism or escapism, on the part of a great many women.

It is in fact frightening the extent to which some women get involved in soap operas. Eisner of ABC told me stories of how viewers send birthday and anniversary cards to the characters or write letters warning them about plot conspiracies. The confusion of the character with the actor becomes almost total in the minds of some viewers, and is reinforced by the extraordinary publication "Daytime TV" based on the movie-magazine format in which the actors and actresses are generally identified first by their fictional names, then their real ones.

Part of the allure of daytime programming, according to network officials, is that it requires a minimum of attention. A viewer can in fact miss one or two episodes of a soap a week and still keep up because they move so slowly. The housewife is often too busy to drop what she is doing, rivet herself before the television, and allow all of her attention to be engaged. NBC's Grant and Eisner pointed out that the "Dick Cavett Show" and the "Merv Griffin Show" had done badly when they filled a daytime slot, presumably because they put too much strain on the attention of their viewers.

Next: The future for daytime television.

A SCENE FROM ABC's daytime serial, "All My Children." The family structure in the soap operas follows traditional stereotyped roles: the mother cooks and cleans and says, "Yes, Dear." The occasional non-domesticated females who crop up tend to be neurotic or rather dislikeable.

IN ROME SHOW

Shirttail Look For The Spring

By BRENDA W. ROTZOLL

ROME (UPI)—Princess Irene Galitzine's husband has an empty closet these days. She took the shirts off his back to make shirttail jackets, vests and even dresses for her summer high fashion collection.

The shirttail was the main motif of her collection today and appeared in all her pet colors —white, bright aqua, and a pair of football jersey colors, deep blue and an intense yellow gold.

Everyone has shown white trousers this season. Galitzine's were very flared, neatly creased, and had turn-up cuffs. She liked them with cotton shirts topped by sleeveless jackets cut like a man's shirt with those shirttails hanging out, or worn with jackets only slightly less full than an artist's smock.

ANOTHER JACKET suite favored by Galitzine (this has been a season for jackets) was that made famous in World War II by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. It has a bloused back and tight band at the natural waist.

The shirttail motif, with the rounded corners overlapped, appeared in daytime dresses and coats, and the same round corners were overlapped in a long white evening gown of satin, worn with a yellow sleeveless blouse with a v neckline attached to a little flat collar, broken in front at the V.

TITA ROSSI liked the fragile look, as in pastel-pleated chiffon dresses of street or floor length with the edge of each pleat stitched to narrow white ribbon lace.

Her most applauded numbers were a series of evening gowns in white or the palest of pastel colors, hand-painted with soft floral borders. The same flowers were repeated on shawls edged with fringe a good 18 inches long.

The favorite Rossi coat or jacket was tightly belted in front, with the belt disappearing inside so that the gored or gathered coat back swing free from the yoke. They looked very breezy, and good for hiding the extra pounds gained eating pastries in the bars around Rome's famous squares.

Fashion is a here-today-and-old-hat-tomorrow world but when designers come up with a winner, they like to stick with it.

Mila Schon found a winner years ago in cleancut little nothing suits, pants, coats and dresses of lightweight double-knit wool. To no one's surprise, they form the backbone of her 1972 spring and summer high fashion collection.

And they still are a money-winning number, as was proved by the long, loud and continuous applause from Italy's economic royalty, which packed her show at the Grand Hotel Wednesday night.

In white, black, cream beige, navy, egg-yolk yellow or pink or powder blue, those supple knits brought beams of approval from those customers who never seem to tire of them.

DOZENS OF her top customers from the Italian industrial centers of Milan, Miss Schon's home base, and Turin, including Mrs. Gianni Agnelli, wife of Europe's largest auto maker, traveled to Rome for the show.

There were plenty of straight-cut jackets, coats and skirts, but the favorite ... was a look achieved by inserting ribbed knits at the waist of jackets or dresses or jumpsuits.

Everyone has trousers this season, most of them flared. Hers are straight-cut and neatly creased. Knit tops under short jackets are spring favorites. Her knit tops are cable knit and sleeveless—but high necked, never tank tops.

There are tank tops on one-piece bathing suits, worn with matching knit hip-length pullovers in navy with white trim.

DESIGNER MILA Schon presented these solidly beaded evening gowns in blue and pink floral patterns, one worked on the diagonal and one on the horizontal, at her spring and summer high fashion showing in Rome. The gowns retail at about $3,000 each.

By HELEN BOTTEL

Burglar Alarms: Well, They Can Make Your Life Very Miserable

Vandals robbed and wrecked a neighbor's house. They drank the liquor cabinet dry, then went on a food-smearing, egg-throwing rampage. Loss? Into the thousands. To the block's peace of mind: catastrophic. . . .Especially to my husband's, for our vacation trip was just around the corner.

Now Bob is a man of action. He doesn't just sit there and worry. He maps strategy. He diagrams. He shops. Prowler prevention became his biggest challenge since backyard bomb shelters.

"What are you doing now, Honey?"

"If they open the back gate, they'll pull this rope that knocks down this bucket of cans, and triggers the siren on the fence. That'll discourage 'em."

It sure discouraged our meter reader. He arrived during tryouts. . .Not to speak of the guy next door under whose bedroom window the siren made its screaming debut.

"Man, you pick the times!" he growled later. "I was putting on my pants and damn near broke my leg."

"Don't touch that switch! We're automatic now."

"But dear, the electric bill . . ."

I was reared by a depression parent who equated unnecessary lights with mortal sin. Somehow you never outgrow the "Turn it off!" syndrome.

Then there was the sliding door caper.

At 2:30 a.m. our cat, who has a bladder problem, got fidgety. Bob's ears are tuned to burglars: he doesn't hear cats. I'm the one!

"What's the big slowdown?" implied Sebastian, flicking a nervous tail as he paced.

"Now just wait a minute here, until I pry up this sawed-off broom handle in the door track, and yank loose the stuck bolt, and check to see the screen won't give me an electri shock . . . And cross your legs if you're in a hurry."

Next day, after I'd spent 10 minutes and three fingernails on a window I once had trouble keeping closed: "Pop dear, you've got this house so battened down that if a fire happened —and we were inside — we'd stay there!"

Think positive. There won't be a fire.

"Couldn't we think positive about robbers?"

Ah yes, the laugh box: An inspired idea which would surely unnerve even experienced "think-ahead" prowlers. They might throw the main switch and deactivate conventional alarms, but when they trod on a wire that set off ungodly laughter? Well, it unnerved the Avon Lady!

Our family soon learned there were certain off-limit activities —like opening a window to shout at the mailman.

"You should have KNOWN," mourned Bob as he did battery transplants on the wrecked alarm box.

"You should have TOLD me you put that Gawdawful screecher on the pane —or at least how to stop its screeching!"

Our vandal-conscious neighbors cheered Bob on, though they cooled a bit after the Affair of the Winged Intruder. They're great, involved human beings, you see, whose slogan is "If you're not part of the solution you're part of the problem." So when our garage window alarm tore a hole in the night they rushed forth, with and without bathrobes, brandishing assorted household head-bashers, to do the dastards in. Naturally, someone called the police. . .

There were those who thought the bird, in a pre-dawn funk, had knocked himself looney on the pane. Not I! Sudden piercing noise can all but stop the heart.

On Departure Day minus one: "Where are you going with the cameras and jewelry, Honey?"

"I'm locking them in the car trunk. Who'd think to look there?"

"Don't thieves sometimes steal cars left in garages?"

"Not when I chain ours to the door!"

And so it was we embarked on vacation, secure in the knowledge that if thugs "hit" our house, it would hit back. As a final precaution, I taped a note to the refrigerator:

"Dear Unknown Visitors: If you open the freezer door, please push it tight closed because it doesn't swing shut by itself and everything will thaw and spoil. P.S. We're trusting you."

"Now THAT'S silly!" scoffed Bob.

"Honor among thieves," said I. "They'll RELATE to an uplift approach. Notice I didn't call them 'robbers.' Think good of a man and he'll BE good, I always say."

High over the Rockies, Bob developed that familiar "Stop the plane I want to get off" look.

"Damn," he groaned. "Damn, damn, damn!"

"Did you lock the suitcase key in tha suitcase again?" I asked.

"No."

"Then you stored the vacation-camera in the car trunk?"

"No. No. No! — I was so busy setting bolts and boobytraps and things that — you know what I forgot?"

"No, what?"

"—TO LOCK THE FRONT DOOR!"

THE MOJURO (George) Nishis of Novato, who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Jan. 7, share a message on a card sent for the occasion. The couple was married in Fukuoka, Kyushu, Japan, and first came to this country in 1922. They have lived in Marin for 12 years.

Couple's Key To 50 Years Of Blissful Married Life

"My wife never disagreed with me," is the reason Mr. Mojuro (George) Nishi gives for the 50 happy years that he and his wife have shared. The Nishis celebrared their golden wedding anniversary on Jan. 7.

A daughter, Mrs. Edward Klementovich of Mill Valley, acting as interpreter, added that she never heard her mother say one word back to her father, and she was amazed to hear other older couples arguing when she was a child.

Mr. and Mrs. Nishi of Novato were married in Fukuoka, Kyushu, Japan, and moved to Orange County in July 1922, settling in Buena Park, near Knotts Berry Farm. Mr. Nishi was employed at a vegetable gardening business until he started his own landscape gardening business.

During the World War II years, the Nishi family lived at a relocation center at Manzanar in the Mohave Desert.

"They (the Japanese) made it beautiful," Mrs. Klementovich said, "planting the area and making the desert green."

The Nishi's returned to Japan following the war and lived there until 1959. When they returned to this country, they lived for three years with their daughter and her family in Mill Valley, moving to Novato nine years ago.

Mr. Nishi served with the Japanese Army in World War I and for many years he marched in the parades in Los Angeles with the Japanese Legion.

"We were very friendly with the American Legion," he said proudly.

The Nishis are members of the Konko Church of San Francisco, a Shinto church. Mrs. Nishi studied Ikebana and still makes flower arrangements. She also likes to garden at their home on Wilson Avenue. Mr. Nishi enjoys shugen, a musical art form with some of the oldest poems of Japan set to music and sung.

The Nishis also have a son, Ben Nishi, living in Novato, with Mrs. Nishi and their children, Patrick, 3, and Charles, 2, and a son-in-law, daughter and grandson, Mr. and Mrs. George Gekko and Bruce, 7, who live in Madera. Mr. and Mrs. Klementovich have three children, Gary, 19, Edward Jr., 18, and Tina, 10.

The family celebrated the anniversary at a dinner at Kublai Khan restaurant in San Francisco on Jan. 9 followed by a reception at the Klementovich home.

ON BEING BLACK

Average Prisoners Lost In Shuffle

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
(Distributed by Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

As is evidenced by copy in newspapers across the country, prisoners receive infamous recognition when an ugly incident occurs behind prison walls. But the average prisoner — the guy who is known only as a number — is still a member of one of society's largest groups of lost and forgotten people.

A staggering number of prisoners are black, and the majority of these men receive no mail and have no visitors. Regardless of the real and imagined whys, this situation alone is a detriment to prisoner rehabilitative process.

In an effort to bridge this gap and help provide the vitally necessary motivation for "making it on the outside," Walter J. Taylor, a black inmate at San Quentin Prison, birthed and nurtured the idea of SOM (Sisters of Motivation).

SOM WAS initially organized to provide prisoners with correspondence from women on the outside. It has mushroomed into an organization of concerned black women, who are interested in making some small contribution to the full rehabilitation of black prisoners. Its motto is "to help the inmate become a part of the community's solutions, rather than a part of its problems."

SOM is not a dating bureau, even though some of its members are wives, sweethearts and mothers of inmates. The kind of motivation SOM deals in is awareness — helping the inmate become aware of himself, current events, job and educational opportunities and the like.

"IT IS A privilege for a prisoner to belong to SOM," stated Mrs. Carolyn Kitson, outside co-ordinator of SOM. "Applicants are carefully screened and prisoners who are known to be trafficking in drugs and known homosexuals (unfortunate, since these men have, need and want sisters, too) are excluded from membership.

SOM writes to its members, provides them with subscriptions to variuos magazines and newspapers (all such material must come directly from publishers) and would like to provide outlets for prisoners' artistic and literary efforts.

So far SOM has dealt principally with prisoners at San Quentin, but interest has been indicated at other prisons. Male prisoners are not the only recipients of SOM concern — female inmates have indicated a wish to become members, so how about a BOM — Brothers of Motivation organization?

SOM IS very anxious to increase its ranks, and organizational affiliation is no drawback. Hence, sorority women, Muslim women, Panther women, uptown and downtown women, old and young women are all welcome to become a part of SOM. The major qualification is that the woman be "interested and dedicated to the advancement of the black race."

"Public apathy is our continuing problem," said Mrs. Kitson. "People express concern and even indignation, but then do nothing. Part of it is fear — the fear of having contacts with convicts. Naturally, there are bona fide criminals to be feared, but basically the fears are in the minds of the people. The fact of the matter is many blacks are incarcerated because they are poor. This encompasses all the related physical, financial and legal aspects of poverty."

Much work is yet to be done in the arena of prisoner rehabilitation, but the greatest motivation for rehabilitation — that which SOM attempts to provide — is simply knowing that someone cares.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from California and National Parent-Teacher Assn. Magazines and Parent's Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Airport" — Action goes behind the scenes during one night at a blizzard paralyzed airport when a passenger loaded jet discovers a bomb is aboard. Completely absorbing and gripping drama.

"Diamonds Are Forever" — James Bond is back again chasing diamond smugglers and villains who plan to blow up the world. Gadgets, sex and violence are all treated as comedy.

"Gone With the Wind" — A classic, a pictorial history of the Civil War and of a civilization "gone with the wind".

"Red Sky at Morning" — A compassionate study of a family's struggle to build a new life when the father goes off to war. The son's growing into maturity are depicted with humor and insight. Language is frank, nudity and sex are handled tastefully.

"Sicilian Clan" — French copy of a Hollywood style crime movie. Head of the Mafia clan arranges for a prison break in Paris. Familiar plot moves very slowly. English subtitles.

"Tora, Tora, Tora" — Spectacular dramatic record of the attack on Pearl Harbor told from both the U.S. and Japanese sides.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Adrift" — A beautiful Czech film about a happily married fisherman who rescues a beautiful woman from drowning and his simple world is destroyed forever when he becomes obscessed by her. Sex and nudity. English subtitles.

"Carry on Camping" — Another in a series of British made comedy with familiar characters. Loaded with gags and sexual entendre too silly to be offensive. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"Dirty Harry" — An unsympathetic loner detective pitted against a psychotic killer in San Francisco. Film evades the complex legal problems and moral issues involved when an individual takes justice into his own hands. (Catholic Film Newsletter).

"Fools" — An aging unemployed actor and a young estranged woman meet and fall in love as they explore San Francisco. Their new found love ends in stark tragedy. Some sex scenes.

"French Connection" — An excruciatingly exciting and terrifying suspense thriller about two relentless narcotics detectives trying to crack an international heroin smuggling ring. Much violence.

"The Go-Between" — A turn of the century English love story between a high born girl and a tenant farmer as seen through the eyes of a 12-year-old boy who serves as their messenger. Beautifully photographed but one very explicit sex scene.

"Harold and Maude" — Offbeat film about a love affair between a neurotic young man and an 80-year-old woman.

"Perfect Friday" — Suspenseful and fast moving sexy British comedy about a bankers' plans to rob his own bank with the help of an amoral trio. Much bed hopping activity and nudity.

"Rachel, Rachel" — An understanding study of a lonely spinster and her first real love affair. Bedroom scenes are explicit. Very well acted and directed.

"The Straw Dogs" — A young American and his wife come to a quiet, remote English village to get away from all that is wrong about modern life. Film is a detailed study of the extreme violence and brutality of which man is capable. Critics are divided as to whether the director exploits violence by showing it in such explicit detail or whether he shows it to prove its ugliness. Long rape scene. (National Council of Churches).

"There's a Girl in My Soup" — Peter Sellers a wealthy bachelor amuses himself with many women confident he is impervious to falling in love until he meets Goldie Hawn. Some nudity.

ADULTS ONLY

"Beguiled" — a story about a wounded Union soldier seeking help from a southern school for women, takes a sudden twist toward violence, a gory amputation, incest, lesbianism and rape round out the unpleasant tale about monstrous people.

"The Loved One" — Crude vulgarization of Evelyn Waugh's novel satirizing American undertaking practices. Its overdone tastelessness becomes utterly repugnant.

"McCabe and Mrs. Miller" — Set in a frontier town in 1890s conflict revolves between the big boss of the town and the owner of the saloon and brothel. Film's overdose of obscene language, sex scenes and nudity is more shocking than realistic.

"Play Misty For Me" — A radio disc jockey is pursued by a mentally deranged fan who uses knives to stab anyone who crosses her path. Much bloody violence and nude sex scenes.

"Sunday, Bloody Sunday" — An English film on an off-beat subject. A divorcee and a doctor are both in love with the same young man.

How To Observe 50th Birthday In Grand Style

PARIS (UPI)—Some 750 U.S. tourists today began a round of gala parties and dinners at Paris' finest restaurants to celebrate the 50th birthday of American millionaire Reese Palley.

Palley, a fine arts dealer from Margate, N.J., chartered two 747 jumbo jets to fly his friends across the Atlantic for the weekend for what he called, "The most magnificent birthday party in history."

Although some of the party-goers were personal friends of Lalley, most of them qualified for the big weekend by buying a $650 work of modern art—a Salvador Dali lithograph—from Palley, guests said.

The group planned celebrations throughout the weekend at such high spots as the Ritz Hotel. The Tour d'Argent, and Maxim's restaurant. The whole affair was to be topped off by a reception Saturday at the home of U.S. Ambassador Arthur K. Watson.

New Court Plan Is Introduced

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A package of bills that would consolidate municipal and justice courts into superior courts was introduced Thursday by Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach.

The key element in the legislative package was a constitutional amendment which would have to be ratified by the voters.

The new system, Hayes said, "would be operated on a statewide basis both from the standpoint of financing and from the standpoint of the administration of justice itself."

Similar legislation by Hayes was killed last year in a Senate committee.

Scriptures Replace The One Liners

By RODERICK NORDELL
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

Songs, dances, and funny sayings — that used to be the old showbiz line. Now it's songs, dances, and Scriptures.

Far from the days when Hollywood anguished over whether to portray Jesus full face if at all, the stage is presenting him as an inspired clown, as a black infant, as a tortured "superstar."

The stage musicals have followed what Variety called the "religioso" wave of pop recordings. They more distantly echo the medieval religious drama, with its infusions of comedy and such typical stage directions as "The shepherds go out, singing joyfully."

Did the shift from Latin to the vernacular in the dim past require any more adjustment than the introduction of Jesus as a young man in boxer trunks in "Godspell"? Certainly today's audiences — strong on over-30 middle-Americans — seem to be taking this amiable Jesus in stride, as he moves like a harlequin through this "musical based on the Gospel according to St. Matthew."

Continuing a long run in New York, "Godspell" has also sprung up on the West Coast, in Boston, London, Australia, possibly one of the most popular popularizations of the Bible since the King James Version.

If "Godspell" stretches out a youthful hand to the audience and makes it love the old parables anew, Broadway's "Jesus Christ Superstar" assaults the senses and blankets its humanist message with wild ostentation.

While "Superstar" plays to sold-out houses in New York, its "authorized" concert version keeps touring. Unauthorized versions try to cash in on the popularity first signaled by phenomenal record sales.

On Broadway, Tom ("Hair") O'Horgan yas directed "Superstar" in a manner harking back to David Belasco, Max Reinhardt and Cecil B. de Mille. The audience is at first confronted by a curtainlike wall filling the proscenium. Strange figures appear clambering on top of the wall. The wall leans back, the figures slide down its surface, suddenly the wall lies flat and becomes the stage floor.

Spectacle follows spectacle, with Judas wailing into a hand mike whose cord is disguised as some kind of ancient vine. Herod becomes a twittering transvestite on elevated shoes challenging Jesus to walk across his swimming pool. Mary Magdalene's tender songs contrast with the weird hostilities of Jesus' enemies.

It all virtually flattens you against your seat. You admire some of the performances and some of the music. But any religious sense seems light years from the unpretentiousness of "Godspell," a cheerful modesty that lets the Scriptures shine through.

A similar delight is communicated by a forerunner of the current Biblical musicals — Langston Hughes's "Black Nativity," which was revived in Boston and New York during the holidays. In Boston National Center of Afro-American Artists production, Mary's labor and the birth of Jesus were eloquently danced while a small adult chorus and a larger children's chorus sang familiar carols and added songs with an irresistible Gospel lilt.

"Why don't you think about it?" everybody rhythmically chants as the Nativity story ends and the robed singers make their way through the audience. The question emphasizes the religious impulse behind the joyous entertainment.

Through the centuries the Bible has been a source for drama, serious music, and popular entertainment. In recent years jazz composer Duke Ellington has turned his formidable talents to sacred concerts. Jazz pianist Dave Brubeck has turned to the writing of sacred oratorios.

Observers of the arts scene can't help noting that, like the rise of the "Jesus people," the current show-business revival of the Bible comes on the heels of God-is-dead theory in the so-called post-Christian era.

Sausalito School Tax 'Essential'

By GEORGE NEVIN

Five candidates for the Sausalito School District board agreed last night that the March 7 tax rate election is essential to the future of the district, but disagreed on other issues.

Voters will go to the polls Feb. 1 to choose two of them to fill vacancies created by the resignations of trustees Nathaniel Johnson and Robert A. Thompson.

The candidates — Barbara Harris, Arlene Knudsen, Hugh G. Lawrence and Barbara Levy of Sausalito, and Betty Times of Marin City — strongly backed the district's tax election, in which voters will decide whether to set a tax ceiling of $2.20 per $100 assessed valuation for the next two years, or whether the rate shall revert to 90 cents.

Other topics, however, particularly consolidation of the district with the Mill Valley School District, reducing per-pupil costs and luring students back into district schools, drew a variety of response.

The five spoke at a candidates night sponsored by the Sausalito Citizens Council and held at the auditorium of Central School.

Four of the candidates — all but Mrs. Harris — said a good way to reduce the district's per pupil cost, estimated to be $2,390 was to appeal to parents who have removed their children from the schools. District enrollment has dropped from 1,123 in 1964 to 490 this year.

Mrs. Harris, however, called it "unrealistic" to expect many of the students to return. "A large-scale rebirth of the district will take a long time. I have no false hopes," she said.

Mrs. Knudsen, a housewife, and Mrs. Levy, a corporation vice-president, said they oppose consolidation with Mill Valley or any other school district; Mrs. Harris, a housewife, and Mrs. Times, an executive secretary, said they would like to study the matter and were uncommitted, with Mrs. Harris pointing out that the ultimate decision would be made by voters. Lawrence an attorney said he doubted if Mill Valley "is interested in having us as things now stand."

Mrs. Harris said consolidation would mean an increase in the bonded indebtedness Sausalito residents would be responsible for, but said advantages such as greater felxibility of program should be considered also.

She and Mrs. Times said the community should be consulted before a decision is made to put the consolidation question to voters.

The other two women, however, flatly saw no benefit in a merger. "Annexation would not solve any of our special problems and possibly could create more," said Mrs. Knudsen. She added she would consider it only if the tax election were to fail.

Mrs. Levy said the annexation would be no solution to the district's problems of declining enrollment, poor performance by students and high costs. "It's no solution to trade problems we can't solve for the problems of another district," she said.

She made it clear she thinks the district has progressed greatly in the past year. "The district is not in a downward spiral. It has recovered. We have reversed the trend."

Mrs. Knudsen agreed, stating she is "convinced the district is heading in the right direction and dedicated to meeting the needs of every child," even though "many are not aware of the remarkable improvement that's taken place."

Recent innovations and new programs have been a "step in the right direction," said Mrs. Times, but she urged more inservice training for teachers and more enrichment programs — a call echoed by Lawrence.

In answer to a question about how dissident parents could be drawn back to the district, Lawrence said the board should "recognize that there's considerable validity in the positions," of the parents and "we should talk to them and find out what they don't like about the schools. The district isn't large enough to go into large-scale alternative schools, but there is room to teach many of the things the parents find lacking."

Mrs. Levy said many had left the district "out of fear and mistrust, but a change has occurred." She pleaded with such parents to "come back now and help us. Don't sit out there and just dissent and wait for the job to be done."

RELICS, ART OBJECTS

Children's Touching Museum Soon To Open In Reed District

By GEORGE NEVIN

When the Reed School District's minimuseum gets into operation this spring, one sign is sure not to be posted on the artifacts, relics and art objects in the collection — "Do Not Touch."

The whole idea behind the museum, which has 500 pieces and still is growing, is to encourage children to handle the objects and learn about them at close range.

The minimuseum is the brainchild of teacher Joyce Wilson. She said she first got the idea seven years ago while working with a group of gifted children, but it wasn't until last fall that the display actually was set up at Reedland Woods School. The official opening is still some months off, she said.

Miss Wilson is working on a catalogue describing each item in the minimuseum and hopes to have it published in another month or two.

About $600 — half from district funds and half from parent clubs in the district — has been spent on the minimuseum thus far, said Miss Wilson. Phyllis Root, a Reedland Woods teacher, also is helping to set the program in motion.

Some of the items in the collection were donated by various individuals, many of them parents of children in district schools. Other artifacts were bought by teachers and others who took trips to foreign lands, and still others were purchased at Bay Area import stores. Buyers were reimbursed.

The collection contains such items as a copy of the Rosetta Stone — which scientists used to decipher ancient Egyptian hieroglyphics; replicas of Kachina dolls from the American Southwest, musical instruments from Africa and China, a sacred elephant from India and an ebony carving of a Kenyan warrior.

When the program is in full swing, Miss Wilson said, teachers will be able to bring their classes to the minimuseum or, if they are unable to come, the relics will be sent to them.

A docent program, in which parents will learn all about one or more cultures represented in the minimuseum and then give talks to classes, also will be set up, she said.

More donations of art, religious, musical and historic objects are needed to round out the collection, said Miss Wilson, and they're tax-deductible.

Viet Veteran Earns His Keep At Prison

An Army-trained Vietnam War veteran, the dog singlenosedly uncovered caches of ammunition, totaling 69 bullets last week — his first at the prison.

Apollo, pet of a correctional officer whose identity prison officials declined to divulge, now has been assigned to the graveyard shift, midnight to dawn, according to Joseph R. O'Brien, information officer.

Apollo was called in last Wednesday to help find a missing inmate, believed to be hiding on the prison grounds. The prisoner later was discovered trying to tunnel his way to freedom.

While Apollo didn't help in locating the prisoner, he proved his worth to prison officials by sniffing out ammunition at eight locations, mainly in the industrial area near the prison laundry and furniture factory.

Prison Escaper-Kidnapper Returned To San Quentin

Jimmy Dee Harvey, a 24-year-old convict who spent three days outside San Quentin this week, today was returned to state prison for kidnaping a Novato policeman's wife and children after escaping from the prison last February.

Harvey, given two concurrent prison terms by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court, earlier had pleaded guilty to kidnap and escape.

He had spent the past three days in Marin County Jail, where he was transferred after completing the term he was serving at the prison for a 1967 auto theft conviction in Orange County.

On Feb. 22, 1971, Harvey walked away from a minimum security area at the prison. He went to Novato, where he forced Joyce Stansfield, whose husband is a policeman, and her friend, Cheryl Smith, into Mrs. Stansfield's car, along with the two young Stansfield children.

Harvey, using a pair of scissors as a weapon, ordered his victims to accompany him to Southern California, where he released them prior to his capture.

Hearing Slated In Assault Case

James Lamotte Matthews, 39, of 215 Bayview Street, Apt. 201, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

State Fair, Cal Expo Would Be Abolished

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation which would abolish the California State Fair and require the state to sell Cal Expo has been introduced by Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Garden Grove.

The bill, introduced Thursday, would deposit the money from the sale of the exposition property in Sacramento into the state general fund. Cory introduced similar legislation last year.

Life Sentence In Death Of Marinite's Father

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 44-year-old ex-convict has been setnenced to life in prison for killing the father of a Marin County woman during a robbery in San Francisco, and an elderly retired shipping executive a week later.

But the sentence has been stayed until the defendant, Harry B. Conwell of San Francisco, stands trial for the murder of 75-year-old Elinor Cushman, the mother of the Marin County Woman, Jean Wiedenmeyer of San Rafael.

Her husband, George Cushman, 89, died during the knifing attack on Aug. 6 of last year, but she remained alive for about three months. Conwell has pleaded innocent to the wife's murder.

But he has admitted guilt in the murder of Ernest Paramino, a retired shipping executive, a week after the Cushman stabbing, and has been sentenced in San Francisco Superior Court by Judge Joseph Karesh for the two killings. Trial date has not yet been set in the third case.

Conwell was captured at the conclusion of a chase in the Marina district of San Francisco after a bystander, with the aid of two security guards and several commandeered trucks and cars, brought him to a halt at gunpoint.

The chase began when Ronald J. Maurer, 39, apartment manager of the building where Paramino lived, was called to the scene of the stabbing and saw Conwell.

Arts Program Aided By Grant

A $10,000 grant from the San Francisco Foundation has guaranteed the existence of the Youth in Arts program in Marin County, and will be used both to help the program continue and to provide free seats at programs for disadvantaged children n Marin.

The Youth in Arts program provides a series of cultural programs to all Marin County school children from kindergarten through eighth grade.

The 1971-72 series includes 28 programs of symphony, ballet, theater and art to be given during school hours in the Veterans Memorial Building at the Civic Center. The program is conceived, organized and operated by volunteers.

Extra Benefits Are Sought

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Old age and blind welfare recipients would receive an additional $3.6 million in benefits this year under a bill introduced Thursday by Assemblyman Raymond T. Seeley, R-Blythe.

A spokesman for the Department of Social Welfare said $18.7 million originally was budgeted for special needs of welfare recipients such as utility deposits and moving costs but that money ran short in the categories of blind and elderly persons.

If the additional money is not approved, it will work a "hardship" on persons in those categories, the spokesman added.

San Rafael-Marin Meeting Is Reset

A meeting of San Rafael City Council and Marin County Board of Supervisors committees to discuss city purchase of Courthouse Square has been rescheduled for Jan. 28 at 2 p.m. at the city hall.

The meeting had been set for today but was postponed because Mayor C. Bettini could not attend. He and Councilman Harry A. Barbier represent the city in the negotiations, with Supervisors Michael Wornum and Arnold M. Baptiste representing the county.

Planners Set Marinship Area Road Session

The Sausalito Planning Commission has set a special meeting to discuss roadways in the Marinship area for 8 p.m. Thursday in city hall, chairman Robert L. Nissen reported.

He said the planners decided to study Marinship's road network, much of which exists only on paper, after the commission considered — but reached no decision — on a request by Heath Ceramics to expand a building in Gate 5 over a portion of a proposed road in the area.

In other business Wednesday night, the commission rejected a proposed by the city council that a 55 per cent building coverage be permitted on lots in the city's central waterfront district zone, according to Nissen.

He said the commission will recommend to the council a coverage of not more than 50 per cent.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

This Hand Will Separate The Deadpans From The Smilers

When the average bridge player falls on evil days he gripes about his bad luck or accepts his fate with a smile to show what a good sport he is. The true expert has little need of showing his sporting smile. He has taken precautions against bad luck and needs only to suppress the smug smile of the winner. Today's hand, played in the 1941 Master Pair Championship, separated the deadpans from the smilers.

BIDDING SIMILAR

At most tables the bidding was similar to what is shown in the diagram of today's hand. When West opened the ten of diamonds, the average declarer didn't dare risk a finesse or a duck since the opening lead might well be a singleton.

At most tables, therefore, declarer took the ace of diamonds and led a low trump from dummy. East discarded a diamond, and South had to put up the queen to drive out the king.

West then led his other diamond. East won and continued diamonds, whereupon West was sure to get a trick with the ten of hearts. The defenders got three trump tricks and one diamond, defeating the contract.

LOOKS AHEAD

At one table New York expert Howard Schenken looked ahead and saw what might happen if West had all of the missing trumps. To guard against this danger, Schenken took the first trick with the ace of diamonds, cashed the top spades and entered his hand by ruffing a spade.

Then South led a low trump toward dummy. West had to step up with the king of hearts, getting only low trumps for his pains.

RUFFING ACTION

West led his other diamond, and East continued the diamonds, but now South could afford to ruff with the queen of hearts. West could win tricks with the ace and king of trumps but could never get a trick with the ten of hearts.

DAILY QUESTION

♠ - 10 6 4
♥ - None
♦ - K J 9 8 5 4
♣ - Q 10 7 3.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three diamonds if not vulnerable, especially if the opponents are vulnerable.

It is unlikely that you will be doubled for penalties, and you might as well interfere with the bidding of the opponents.

Lowell Body, custodian at Sun Valley School in San Rafael, has been installed as president of the San Rafael City Schools Employees Association.

R. SABELLA ANTIQUES

A WELL known department store is having an oriental carpet sale this month. We only mention this because our regular everyday prices are lower than their sale prices. For instance, their sale price for an Indian Ming, 9x12, is $439, we sell the same high quality carpet regularly for $350. We also rent carpets. Live with it for awhile, if you want to keep it, we'll apply the rental to the purchase price. You can't go wrong. We are located in "The Collective," in San Anselmo, next to the Tamalpais Theater and we are open 7 days a week.

Once-Secret Oil City Opens To The World

ABU RUDEIS, Israel-occupied Sinai — (Toronto Telegram Syndicate) — Thanks to one of the biggest alleged scandals in Israel's history, this once-secret oil city has been opened up to the outside world.

The upshot of this is a slew of startling revelations: The Israelis now are extracting as much oil from their newly-acquired Sinai wells as the Egyptians did from all of their oilfields combined (including those of the west bank of the Gulf of Suez and the western desert) in 1967.

This was done in an incredibly short time, largely due to the drive and dynamism of Netivei Neft's managing-director, veteran Israeli oilman Motti Freidman. But Friedman came under fire when a leading geologist who left his employ, accused him of arranging for valuable equipment, left behind by the Egyptians, to be "sold" to Freidman's own private oil firm, Continental Ltd., and then, at 700 per cent profit, to a U.S. backed outfit — "Midbar Ltd.".

In an obvious public relations effort, Friedman asked his chief petroleum engineer, Polish-born Jan Drzewiecki, to show the entire operation to a group of visiting newsmen.

Drzewiecki, 62, came to Israel in 1957 after he was replaced as director of Poland's national oil industry.

What followed was a tour through the length and breadth of the 25-mile-long, two-mile wide Belayim oil field where 87 "donkeys" — oil jargon for pumps — work day and night along the Suez Gulf's sandy beaches.

Offshore, it was possible to see the three sea platforms where 18 more wells are operating.

Since the Israeli takeover in June 1967, only one new offshore well was drilled. Two others were uncapped, Drzewiecki said. In Toto, he said, Netivei Neft is extracting six million tons of crude oil annually. At that rate, it will be possible to keep pumping for another 20 to 30 years without drilling new wells.

Asked about the political implications of this, Drzewiecki quipped: "we leave them to Moshe Dayan".

As one scanned the placid semi-tropical horizon, it seemed as if this might be the safest place in the entire Middle East. This is because the Israelis and Egyptians have studiously avoided hostilities in this corner of the Suez Gulf.

Since the Sinal oil output is sufficient to cover all of Israel's domestic needs, the amount contracted for before the Six-Day War can be exported complete. This means that more than $50 million a year accrues to the Israeli treasury and explains why Israel rushed to construct a giant 42-inch pipeline from Eilat to Ashelon on the Mediterranean in the first year after the war.

The fact that there is oil to be had in Sinai is thanks largely to several American companies which began prospecting here just after World War II. One of them, Standard Oil of New Jersey, spent $16 million on the project.

By the time the Six-Day War upset the Middle Eastern status quo, the Egyptians had 2,000 men running the Belayim field. Under an arrangement with Italy's E.N.I. oil concerns a state-dominated enterprise.

The Israelis re-organized the financial structure, in such a way as to safeguard the interests of the foreign investors concerned — even the Egyptians get royalties indirectly — while streamlining day-to-day operations. Only 450 Israelis and 120 local Bedouin Arabs live and work at Abu Rudeis.

By introducing a new hydraulic system, production rose to double that of the Italo-Egyptian time. Half of the output comes from land wells, and half from the marine wells. Drzewiecki points out that the marine oil is of superior quality.

To cope with the sulphur and salt water content in the oil, the Israelis finished construction work in September of a purification plant. The installation had been started by the Italians and Egyptians, but was left incomplete when they pulled out.

The current rate of production requires three tankers per week at the Sinai oil port of Firran. They load 50,000 tons each and transfer the crude to Filat, Israel's main oil port. Filat is situated around the southern tip of Sinai, at the head of the Gulf of Aqaba. Rather than interrupt pre-war oil importing arrangements, Israel's Finance Ministry chose to sell the post-war oil surplus in overseas markets.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Ideal Cold Weather Ensemble? Activity Is Determining Factor

There is no ideal cold weather ensemble. Comfort depends upon the temperature, humidity, wind, sun, and person's activity. A light ski suit, for example, may be perfect to schuss a slope, especially when the individual is warmed by the sun. But these togs will never do for the man who walks down Michigan or Fifth Avenue on a cold, damp, cloudy, windy day in January. The type of activity, rather than outdoor temperature, determines the amount of clothing needed. I often wonder how the gals with minis stay warm.

THERE IS no trick to staying warm when active and covered from head to toe with heavy fur-lined apparel. But it may be too bulky for comfort. And if it rains, and the person gets wet, he may be chilled to the bone. Where cold is a factor, insulated fabrics with the highest degree of wind resistance are the most comfortable. Waterproof, or water-repellent garments are desirable when it is wet and cold, too. A tightly-woven fabric affords better protection against wind, and cold.

All textiles, with the exception of leather, and coated materials, are permeable to water. Coated fabrics repel moisture but they also prevent the escape of vapor (persipiration) from the body. As a result the individual becomes wet on the inside, and just as chilled as if soaked by the rain, or wet snow.

THE NEWER winter fabrics are greatly improved. The secret to warmth is to wear layers of clothing which create pockets of air to keep in body heat and keep out the cold. Wool and cotton are popular for undergarments. The sportsman might prefer thermal underwear. Winter coats and jackets should have outer fabrics that are closely woven. Many different linings and interlinings made of down, plastic foam, or acrylic pile are available. The collar should fit snugly, and it helps to wear a scarf, vest, or chest protector. And don't forget warm gloves, shoes, and hat.

BRUSHING & BALDING

N.G. writes: If the hair is falling out fast, will the use of a hairbrush hasten the loss?

REPLY

Yes, if the bristles are hard and the brushing technic is too vigorous. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on care of the hair and scalp.

LONG-LASHED MAN

A.R. writes: My eyelashes are extremely long. However, since I am a 24-year-old man, this is embarrassing. What, if anything, can be done about it?

REPLY

SWOLLEN GUMS

Mrs. A.K. writes: What causes swelling of the gums in a 2-year-old?

REPLY

Teething and infection are the most common origins of this condition.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

Plan Would Hike NYSE Membership

NEW YORK (UPI)—A proposal to triple the public membership on the board of governors of the New York Stock Exchange was among proposals given preliminary approval by the board Thursday.

The board also gave preliminary approval to several other constitutional amendments to reorganize the exchange.

Under its proposals, the 33man board would be replaced by a 21-man board. Of these, 10 would be elected from the public and 10 from the securities industry. Those 20 then would elect a full-time chairman.

Presently, the board has three public representatives.

Other amendments approved by the board called for an annual election of a vice chairman from the industry representatives; guidelines for the nominating committee in proposing candidates for the board;and the transfer of voting power from an individual NYSE member to his firm when the member's seat was financed by his firm.

The board then could hold a final vote on them Feb. 10. and the membership could then vote by Feb. 23, the NYSE said.

The changes were recommended Dec. 30 as a result of a three-month study by William McChesney Martin Jr., former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

New Plan To Protect Property

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation to protect property owners when errors are made in assessment of their property was introduced Thursday by Assemblyman Robert C. Cline, R-Canoga Park.

Cline said that currently some assessors, when they discover errors, present the property owner with a bill for past due taxes, saying they are payable immediately.

His bill would allow the homeowner to pay the taxes over a three-year period with no penalties or interest.

Cannery Row To Have New Look

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Historic Cannery Row in Monterey, Calif., memorialized in John Steinbeck's novel of the same name, is being converted into a shopping mall and motel complex.

The architectural firm that created San Francisco's Ghirardelli Square announced Thursday it is designing the new complex, which will include about 20 specialty shops, six restaurants, a cocktail lounge and recreational and motel facilities.

Assemblyman, Wife May Split

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The wife of Assemblyman John L. Burton Jr., D-San Francisco has filed for dissolution in San Francisco superior court.

Michele Burton, 28, Thursday asked for custody of the couple's 7-year-old daughter, Kimiko Cheryl, and for alimony and child support. She also asked the court to approve a written property settlement she and Burton, 39, had worked out.

Mrs. Burton is the daughter of the late Jack Hall, once president of the International longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union in Hawaii and a member of the ILWU's International Executive Board.

Aftershock Felt In Sylmar Area

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —A small "dish-rattling" earthquake, another aftershock of the disastrous quake that struck Los Angeles Feb. 9, was centered in the Sylmar area Thursday.

The quake registered 3.2 on the richter scale, "enough to rattle dishes in the cupboard" but not enough to cause serious damage, reported Dr. William Kaufmann of the Griffith Observatory.

10,000 Signatures For Limited Taxes

Marin backers of the so-called Jarvis amendment, which would limit property taxes in California, have obtained more than 10,000 signatures of voters in an effort to get the measure on the June ballot.

County elections officer Peter C. Meyer said 2,951 signatures were filed with him Jan. 12, one day before the deadline, bringing the total to 10,123.

Statewide, 520,286 signatures are needed to place the measure on the ballot. Marin's share was one per cent, or 5,200 signatures. Meyers said, and added that he understands the amendment is close to having sufficient signatures statewide.

The proposed constitutional amendment is sponsored by Howard Jarvis, an unsuccessful Republican candidate for the state Board of Equalization. It would limit property taxes to 1 per cent of market value.

Lions Club Will Hold Blood Drive

The San Geronimo Valley Lions Club will hold a blood drive from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Jan. 30 at the San Geronimo Swim and Tennis Club, Woodacre.

Blood collected in the drive is available to all valley residents. Persons wishing to donate should make an appointment with Marrietta Bauer or Patricia Cope, both of Woodacre.

The Irwin Memorial Blood Bank, which will supply the mobile unit for the blood drive, has announced there is a critical need for donations because of the high number of heart operations — 120 — planned in the Bay Area during January. Each operation requires about 12 pints of blood.

Program Slated For Handicapped

A religious and social program for handicapped persons will be held from noon to 2 p.m. on Saturdays starting Jan. 29 at St. Raphael's Church Hall, 1104 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael.

The program is sponsored by Catholic Social Services of Marin and was put together by Nadina Calliguiri.

The program will include a Mass, lunch and a social period, and handicapped persons of all ages and religious backgrounds are welcome, Miss Calliguiri said. Transportation may be arranged through Catholic Social Services of Marin.

Disposal Site Will Hike Minimum Rate

The San Quentin Disposal Site has announced it will raise its minimum charge for dumping from 50 cents to $1 effective Feb. 15.

The price per cubic yard will remain 75 cents, and the price for dumping clean fill and concrete will stay at 50 cents.

800 Books Donated To Tam Library

A personal library of 800 volumes has been donated to the Tamalpais High School library by Grace E. Ball of Mill Valley, owner of Grace Ball College in San Francisco.

Librarian Norman Rogers said the books were the collection of Miss Ball's Sister, Mary Ball, and were donated in her memory. Mary Ball was a teacher and later served as an executive of the California Teachers Association.

Kentfield Becomes Cage Capital—Temporarily

By LEW CODDINGTON

Kentfield will become the temporary capital of Marin County basketball tonight, and fans can see two high school games at once if they are quick, lucky, and don't mind swimming a creek.

At 8 p.m., Marin Catholic High School will play host to Terra Linda High. Simultaneously at College of Marin, the Tamalpais Indians will meet San Marin of Novato.

The high school and the college are separated by about a two-minute drive along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. For more adventurous fans, there is a back way that involves a woods, a 20-foot wide creek, and a better-than-ever chance of getting lost.

There also will be a traffic jam, no doubt, but it will not compare with the traffic jam in the middle of the Marin County Athletic League standings. Five teams are within one game of each other, all well behind co-leaders San Rafael and Tamalpais, who have 4-0 records.

Tied for third at 2-2 are Redwood and Drake, who will square off tonight at the San Anselmo school at 8 o'clock, and Novato, which has the unenviable task of facing San Rafael, also at 8, in Novato.

Terra Linda and Marin Catholic are both 1-3, to the surprise and chagrin of each. Both expected to be contenders, but Terra Linda now has lost two straight and Marin Catholic three.

Terra Linda's fast-break offense, highly productive earlier in the year, misfired last week and produced just 88 points in two games. But the Trojans' speed makes them a problem for burly Marin Catholic.

Marin Catholic again will try to control the boards while avoiding fouls, a season-long bugaboo. The Wildcats committed 27 infractions Tuesday against Drake's quick Pirates.

Either has the talent to vault back into contention in the MCAL, but would have to start a winning streak now to do it.

Drake already has started such a streak. After losing their first two, the Pirates have won two straight with accurate shooting and some gritty work on the boards. Tom Carlisle scored 20 Tuesday against Marin Catholic.

Redwood is in the midst of a rare and puzzling two-game losing streak that is heavy with irony. The Giants are 15-2 overall, certainly not the mark of an also-ran, but must begin to prove themselves all over again, starting against Drake.

Chief problem will be the recreation of the balanced scoring that characterized their non-league season. Four starters were in double figures then, but now only two are. Steve McGee, who scored 32 in Redwood's loss to Tam Tuesday, has been capable of scoring 30 all year; he wasn't forced to until recently.

Novato, which peaked in early December and has been lackluster since, may be ready to move again. The Hornets pulled away from Terra Linda Tuesday, and have gotten double-figure production from Joe Powell in three of the four league games, a development which could help take the slack off top scorer Marty Moroski.

San Rafael has been rough on defense all year, and now has the scoring to go with it, with four men at 9.8 points a game or better. If San Rafael had any doubts about its depth, they melted Tuesday when George Swift scored 10 as a substitute in victory over San Marin.

San Marin has lost four stright league games, and does not relish facing the two leaders back-to-back. Marty Larsen and Hoza Wright have been scoring well for the Mustangs lately, but it will take more than two hot men to make a run at Tam.

Tam's Indians scored their biggest victory in several years Tuesday with the upset of Redwood. Will Garner turned the game into a personal tour de force with 33 points, but timely play by Jared McFerrin and a comeback keyed by the team's four alternating guards were just as important.

SPORT NOTES

Cage Classic To Use International Laws

By RALPH CHATOIAN

It will be an altogether different brand of basketball played at Terra Linda High School when the best of the Army cagers play in the second annual East-West College All-Star Basketball Classic next month. I'm really looking forward to it.

For many Marin County fans, it will be their first exposure to a basketball game involving international rather than U.S. rules. In a word, this game is rougher. In two words, much rougher.

Veteran coach Hal Fischer, who will be coaching the Army team in the game Feb. 17, brought 16 of his players to Terra Linda High Wednesday for a clinic for T.L. freshmen and junior high school boys in the district. Fischer, a resident of Corte Madera for 11 years before moving to Santa Rosa three years ago, explained some of the rules used for the game which speeds up play and cuts down on the number of free throws in the game.

For instance, there is no such thing as a three-point play, in which a player scores a basket, is fouled in the process and then scores a free throw. If a player is fouled in the act of shooting — using international rules — he is awarded two free throws if the shot is missed. If the shot is made, nothing happens, but the offending player is charged with the foul.

If a personal foul is committed on a player not in the act of shooting, "the foul is charged and the ball put in play by the offended team on the side nearest the place of the foul." No free throws. In U.S. basketball, technical fouls are separate from personal fouls, but in international rules, technical and personal fouls are added together and a combination of five sends a player from the game.

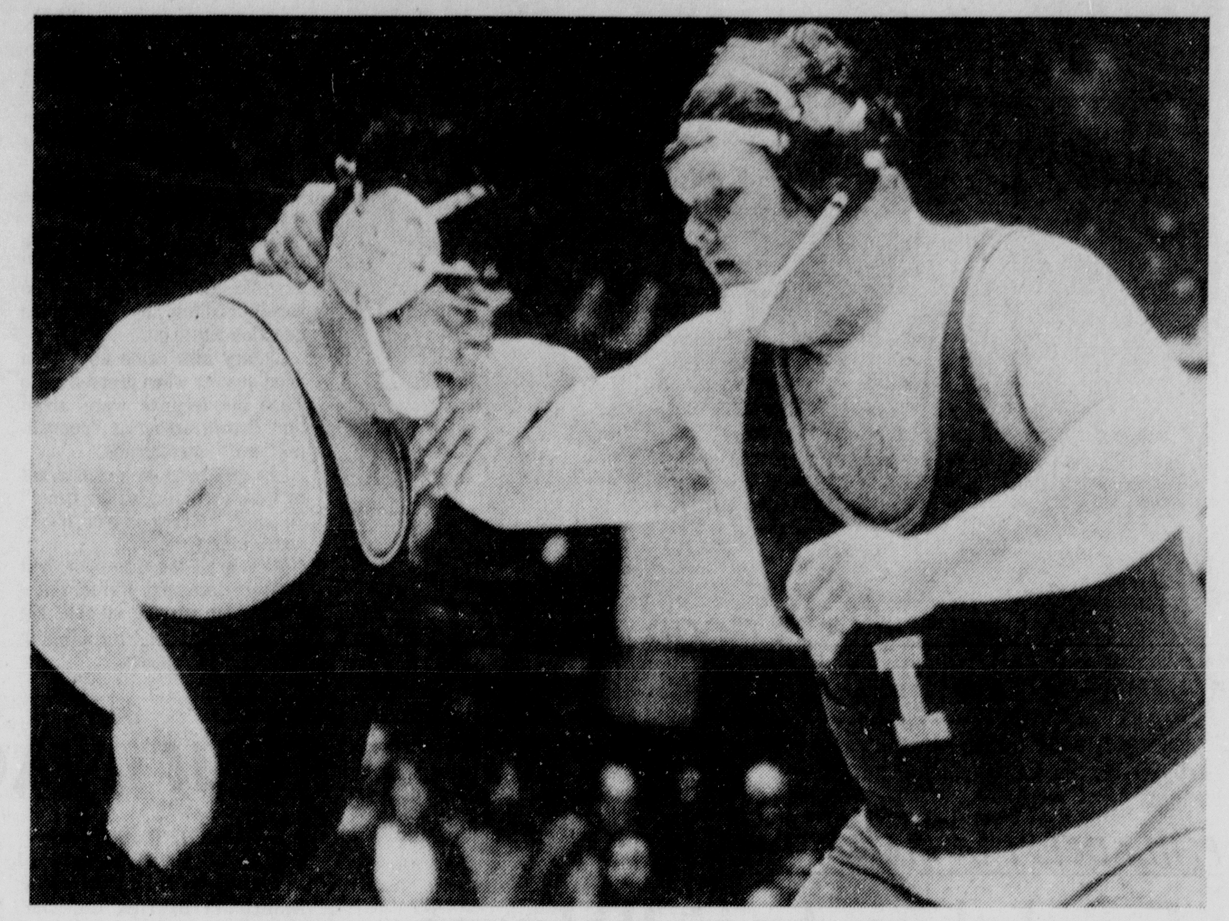
In the last three minutes of the game, when a foul is committed, the captain of the "offended team" has an option of his team shooting two free throws or taking the ball out of bounds at midcourt. Like U.S. pro basketball, a time clock is used, but teams must shoot a basket within 30 seconds after possession rather than 24 seconds as in pro ball.

Out of 160 countries which play basketball, says Fischer, 159 of them use international rules, the United States the lone exception. And to think, basketball is the only major sport actually invented in the U.S. (Contrary to belief, the game of baseball, attributed to Abner Doubleday, actually originated in England.) We finally invent a sport in this country and every other country changes the rules.

Fischer is athletic director at Presidio of San Francisco and has been coaching all-Army teams since 1957. His team last year won all 78 of its games, going all the way to the National Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) championship, won at London, Ky. Star of the team was Darnell Hillman, now playing with the Indiana Pacers of the American Basketball Association. Hillman, who was drafted also by the San Francisco Warriors but chose the Pacers, scored 31 points last year in the all-star game at Terra Linda.

Hal doesn't promise a Darnell Hillman this time around, but estimates he'll have about nine All-Americans when time for the Marin County game rolls around. He will have about 28 men on the team and cut it down to 20 after the Terra Linda game. Eventually the team will be cut to the best 12 when it leaves to defend its Interservice and AAU titles.

The rugged coach has his players on the court at least six and most of the time eight hours a day. He's a tough, demanding coach and if he gets a player who doesn't put out 100 per cent he will literally ship him out. The question is not difficult to answer: "Okay, private, what would you rather do — play basketball or head out for Vietnam?"



BEEFY BRAWL FOR ONE AND ALL

Mike White Spurns Offer By Stanford

Indian Assistant To Accept Cal's Grid Coach Spot

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Mike White, the man who turned Stanford's football offense into one of the top machines in the country, today turned down an opportunity to become the Indians' head coach and was expected to accept the offer of arch-rival California.

California officials called a news conference for later today at which time White's appointment as head football coach and Dave Maggard, a 1968 Olympian, as athletic director, were to be announced.

White said he turned down the Stanford job because he did not want to be compared with John Ralston, who guided the Indians to two stunning Rose Bowl victories the last two seasons.

White, whose name has been bandied about the past few days as a possible coach for either or both Stanford and California, declined to flatly state he had accepted the Berkeley job.

"California has not officially named an athletic director up to this time, and, when they do, we will probably get together and discuss the possibility of my going back to Berkeley," he said.

He said, "I found myself in one of the most unique situations that any coach has ever experienced, and I have struggled with the decision since my conversation with Dr. Lyman (Stanford president Richard Lyman) yesterday morning.

PRO BOWL

NFC To Start Potent Array

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dream teams from the National and American football conferences get in their final practice licks today for Sunday's Pro Bowl, the last hurrah of the stretched out 1971 season.

Take a team wih quarterbacks such as Roger Staubach of the Dallas Super Bowl champions and Greg Wandry of the Detroit Lions, with receivers who include Dick Gordon (Chicago), Charlie Sanders (Detroit), Ted Kwalick (San Francisco), and running backs John Brockington, the most valuable rookie from Green Bay, Larry Brown of Washington, and Gene Washington of San Francisco. That is one dream team from the NFC. But it does not appear to have an edge on paper over the AFC which includes quarterbacks Len Dawson (Kansas City) and Bob Griese (Miami), receivers Otis Taylor (Kansas City) and Paul Warfield (Miami), and running backs Floyd Little, the KFL rushing champitn from Denver, Larry Csonka of Miami, and Leroy Kelly of Cleveland.

Aside from pride in performance, there is a dollar incentive to win although it isn't much by pro football standards. Each member of the winning squad gets $2,000 and each loser gets $1,500.

The bookies call the game even. In the event of a tie at the end of the regulation time there will be a sudden death or sudden victory playoff. The first team to score in the extra period is the winner.

The NFC won last year when Dallas corner back Mel Renfro dashed 82 yards and 56 yards on punt returns, going all the way.

Before the two pro leagues merged, this was an East-West rivalry and the West had a 13-7 edge over the years.

Little, who claims Denver deserves more recognition in the league said fans here are tough, adding, "I do my best broken-field running getting back to my car after a game."

Dawson, at 36 the oldest player present, was asked how long when he expected to retire and he said, "Don't ask a quarterback how long he's going to play. Ask his wife."

Then he said there was "a possibility this is my last season."

Griese was asked to interpret the remark and he said, "He means his wife wants him to quit."

Archer, Owens In Lead

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—Charlie Owens learned to play golf as a boy in Winterhaven, Fla., where his father was a greenskeeper at a country club.

Yet today he shares the first-stround lead with Los Angeles Open champion George Archer in the $150,000 Dean Martin Tucson Open.

Both wens and Archer fired sizzling seven-under par 65s in Thursday's opening round. Both had eight birdies and just one bogey.

Archer, the lanky Californian who is the leading money winner so far this year, fashioned his low round by starting off with a 40-foot birdie putt on the first hole. He made the turn at three-under 33 and then birdied the first three holes on the back nine.

Napa's Ron Cerrudo carded a 74.

Seven golfers headed by Bob Murphy and Bobby Nichols were tied at 67 and six had 68s.

A total of 58 fired 71 or better over the 7,200-yard, par 72 course.

Lee Trevino, PGA golfer of the year in 1971, headed the list at 71. He said his putter failed him in the first round and he spent about an hour on the practice green after the round.

Warriors Face Atlanta Hawks Tonight On TV

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors, seeking a 10th straight victory, visit the Atlanta Hawks tonight at 6 p.m.

The game will be televised back to the Bay Area live on Channel 2.

Matzdorf To Make First 1972 Start

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Pat Matzdorf, who took the world record in the long jump to a phenomenal 7 6 1-4 last summer and made believers of the Russians in the bargain, makes his first start of the Olympic year tonight at the San Francisco Examiner Games.

Matzdorf, who hopes to make the U.S. team this year and follow in the Olympic footsteps of Dick Fosbury, has a tough assignment in his 1972 debut because Reynaldo Brown also is in the Examiner field. Brown already has jumped to an American indoor record of 7-4 this winter and is shooting, as is Matzdorf, for the world indoor mark of 7-4 5-8 held by Russia's Valeriy Brumel.

A dozen world record holders, including six Olympic champions, see action tonight. Among them are such foreign stars as miler Kip Keino of Kenya, pole vaulter Kjell Isaksson of Sweden, sprinters Don Quarrie and Lennox Miller of Jamaica.

Terra Linda Matmen Win

The victory left the Trojans tied for first place at 3-0 with San Rafael, which defeated Tamalpais, 49-21. Also yesterday, San Marin edged Drake, 37-30. Redwood drew a bye.

A combination of Terra Linda forfeits and good Novato wrestling put the Trojans behind early, 16-3, but they rallied to take six of the final seven matches and win going away.

Stu Munson (167 pounds), Ron Losk (193) and Steve Rowell (heavyweight) recorded first-round pins for Terra Linda, with Losk's coming in just 31 seconds. Brian Jordon (177) and Mark Egide (105) each won impressive 7-0 decisions.

Novato's two outstanding wrestlers, Alan Brazell (122) and Dave Hutton (129), each won decisions, Brazell's by a lopsided 14-3 score.

Greg Ford (97) of Tamalpais pinned his foe in just 20 seconds, but San Rafael was unfazed and went on to win handily. Undefeated Dave Hughes of San Rafael decisioned Tam's Alvin Price, 7-0, in a meeting of top 147-pounders.

Dave Jensvold (105) and Pete Mumma (heavyweight) each recorded pins in less than a minute to highlight San Marin's victory over Drake. Drake wrestlers won three matches outright and three others by forfeit in their strongest showing yet.

Idle Redwood (1-1-1) moved into a third-place tie with Novato (2-2). Next come Tamalpais (1-2-1), San Marin (1-2) and Drake (0-4).

Next Thursday's schedule finds Drake at Tamalpais, 4 p.m.; Terra Linda at San Marin, 6:30; and Sjn Rafael at Redwood, 6:30. Novato draws the bye.

California Seals To Host New York

OAKLAND (UPI) —Defense has been the keynote of the California Golden Seals recently and they'll need a lot of it tonight against the New York Rangers at the Coliseum-Arena.

In the two "no contests" between the clubs so far this season, the Rangers creamed the Seals 12-1 and 8-1. Jean Ratelle scored six of those 20 New York goals.

Ratelle's line of Rod Gilbert and Vic Hadfield is the highest scoring one in the National Hockey League with 87 goals and 116 assists. All three players are ranked among the NHL's top 10 scorers.

Meanwhile, the Seals have been stressing defense and sacrificing an extra skater in the attacking zone in order to cover possible breakaways. This has paid off because the Seals have allowed an average of only two goals a game in their last five.

But California has forgotten to score, getting only one goal in their last two contests.

Seals coach Vic Stasiuk is undecided about who will open in goal. He has rookies Gilles Meloche and Gary Kurt. Meloche was bombed in the two previous games against the Rangers while Kurt has never faced the Rangers.

New York needs a victory to tie the Boston Bruins for first place in the NHL East. California could use some points to gain some breathing space in third place in the West ahead of closely trailing St. Loucs, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

FISH AND GAME

Hunting Very Slow Around These Parts

By AL GIDDINGS

Huntingwise, things are slow. I haven't noted any black sea brant in Tomales Bay; about the only hunting available locally is for mudhens at the Giacomini Ranch at Point Reyes Station (by permission only), or for pheasants at one of the pheasant clubs in Marin or Sonoma County, if you are a member. If you're not, there are daily shoots at the Pierce Point Gun Club, now located on the Point Reyes-Petaluma Road, near the Cheese Factory.

The fishing picture isn't great either, but those anglers who put in the time for stripers or sturgeon are scoring here and there. The old champ, Sam Knoles, has been going with anyone who wants to go for bass, trolling that area between Buoy 4 and California City. In three outings this past week, all with different parties, he has taken about six fish, largest about 10 pounds.

One day, fishing with Rex Morgan and company, he got two, but Rex took a 22-pounder for high fish of the boat. On another day, fishing with Andrew Dewey, 1972 Marin Rod and Gun Club president, two fish were boated, both taken by Andy. Incidentally, I checked their licenses that day, but both were legal. That would have been a case!

I heard that Taylor McGee, one of Marin's popular party boat skippers, recently took his No. 3 son, Tony, on a duck hunt. To insure getting limits, he took along a case of shells figuring that 15-year-old Tony wouldn't be able to hit 'em. He got fooled. Tony limited out in short order, using less than a box of shells. (This inside dope came from good ol' mom!) News gets around.

Neil Scheid of Woodacre, my next door neighbor, brought over about 10 pounds of sturgeon eggs for processing from his 100-pound fish caught this week at California City. I sent it down to Sam Knoles, who in short order had it in the shape of caviar. Neil tasted it, then said for me to keep his share. Fifty per cent of the people, from my experience, don't like the stuff.

Maisie Martin of Santa Venetia also called saying that her husband Manny got a 75-pound sturgeon containing eggs. After fixing the roe into a caviar concoction, she also said that it was for the birds, but smoked sturgeon —well, that was something else again.

The Department of Fish and Game sent out a recent notice that the Joice Island section of the state's Grizzly Island Wildlife area will be opened to fishermen again starting this week. The area is always closed to anglers each year during the waterfowl season. Grizzly Island is located about 10 miles southeast of Fairfield in Solano County.

Steelhead fishing is generally slow, though some good reports came in from the Russian River. The water is clear —too clear — so it's light leaders and small baits or flies for best results.

At Papermill Creek tidewaters at Point Reyes Station, 12-year-old Ricky Urico, fishing with his grandparents, hooked a flounder. He was having a big time playing it slowly, when a steelhead hit the second hook on his outfit. He landed both fish to set some kind of a record for that area. Never heard anything like it before!

Another angler fishing for steelhead had a quiet spot all to himself. He hooked and successfully landed a 13-pound fresh run steelhead, all the while keeping the rod tip low to the water for fear that someone might see him. Oh, the fish was legal, but he didn't want his hot spot known. What he didn't know was that "someone," along with four other friends, showed up to take over the spot. Talk about a disgusted fisherman!

The only thing I caught this week was Rebel Heart in the eighth at Bay Meadows, using twin sawbucks for fodder, but it was a goodie!

SNOW NEWS IS GOOD NEWS

Minnesota Twins' shortstop Danny Thompson cracked a snowball near home plate at Metropolitan Stadium in Bloomington recently. It is expected that the snow will have melted when the Twins open their season April 6.

New York Giants May Obtain Morton

By MILTON RICHMAN

Could be.

The Giants figure they've gone about as far as they can with Fran Tarkenton, so he's likely to move on. That would mean they'd need another established quarterback.

Morton, the 28-year-old forgotten man of the Dallas Cowboys, feels he can still be the No. 1 quarterback for some club and with Roger Staubach around, that club isn't going to be the Cowboys.

"He'll probably ask to be traded and he'll be justified," says the Cowboys' coach, who rarely dodges any reasonable question put to him.

Landry also came up with a good answer when pressed as to what his feelings were about Jim Brown acting as "consultant" to Duane Thomas.

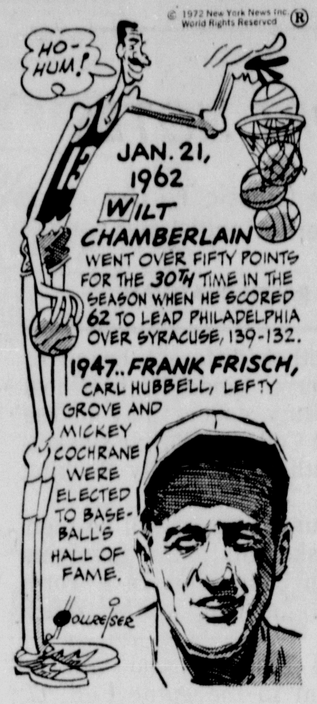
"I can't react to a consultant or I'd be reacting all the time," he said. "Every player has a consultant."

What's all the fuss over Wilt Chamberlain and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar passing up that big dinner before the NBA All-Star game in Los Angeles?

Maybe they just weren't hungry.

The making of a baseball pitcher or even a Hall of Famer isn't anywhere near as long and involved a procedure as something like the making of a President.

THIS DAY IN SPORTS



Sandy Koufax recalled Wednesday how he became a pitcher instead of a thrower one day on a plane ride from Vero Beach, Fla., to Orlando where he was to work an exhibition game against the Minnesota Twins.

"This was a 'B' game, I mean one of those very 'B' games, and on the plane over, Norm Sherry (one of the Dodgers' catchejs), said 'let's try something different today,'" Koufax remembered that particular spring day in 1961.

"What he was saying was that when I got into any kind of trouble in the past I'd always go to my fast ball. Why not try a breaking ball or a change this time, Norm was suggesting. Something different. I said okay. This was the first game I didn't take three steps forward and two steps back when I got into trouble. By that I mean I didn't go to my fast ball the way I always had before. I didn't press as much."

Koufax walked three men in one inning in that game with the Twins but he also pitched seven hitless innings. It was the turning point for the Dodgers' lefty, who had always been plagued by wildness and was 25 at the time, and he went on to win 18 games that season.

PHILADELPHIA MANAGER

Frank Lucchesi Returns From Cuba Baseball Tour

FOSTER CITY, Calif. (UPI) —Seven umpires work world series baseball games in Cuba and admission to all games is free.

Those were a couple of the observations made by Philadelphia Phils manager Frank Lucchesi after returning from a four-day visit to Cuba. He was the first major league manager from America to make a goodwill visit to the island nation since Fidel Castro took over.

"Sports, led by baseball, are the biggest thing in Cuba outside the government," said Lucchesi upon his return Thursday. "To me, sports seemed like their whole life."

He said he saw only three baseball games while he was in Cuba and he rated the caliber of play on a level with Class A or AA in the United States.

Regarding the equipment used by Cuban baseballers, Lucchesi said wood for the bats is imported from Russia and Spain and they are as good as American bats. The baseballs are made of cowhide instead of horsehide although the stitching was superior, and the gloves were inferior but probably better than those made in Japan.

The big league manager called the umpiring in Cuba "pretty good."

"One game I saw," he said, "the umpire working balls and strikes was good enough to work in our big leagues. They use the standard four umpires to a game but in their world series (amateur) they used seven umps a game with the seventh guy working behind the center fielder.

"I found out there is no admission to baseball games and that equipment is given to players free of charge."

Lucchesi visited three baseball plants in Cuba and rated them better than most. One park in particular, he said, was "better than at least five or six in the major leagues."

This same park, he added, was expanded to 50,000 seats in recent years with all the work being done to enlarge it on a free basis by just average fans.

"They told me people would come to the park and put in a few hours of work after their regular day's work was done. If that's true, it's really something. That kind of enthusiasm is hard to beat."

Lucchesi did not meet Castro, though, because the Cuban leader was out of the country at the time.

Las Gallinas Gallops Past Road Runners

Paul Crovo scored 19 points for the Road Runners, but it wasn't enough to stop Las Gallinas last night in San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department basketball league play. Las Gallinas had three men scoring in double figures, including Bill Mayer with 16, and won, 49-39.

Bacon's Beef battered the Terra Linda Mellow Fellows, 59-41, as Dave Bacon scored 16 points to lead four menin double figures. The All-Catholic All-Stars overcame 20 points by Frank Harms to defeat Retail Credit, 47-40.

Turf Action Slated

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

MIAMI — Miami City manager Melvin Reese said yesterday American Biltrite Co. has agreed to replace the Orange Bowl's Poly-Turf surface that showed the characteristics of an ice rink midway through last football season.

But Charles R. Weimer, a spokesman for the manufacturers of the $200,000 artificial playing surface, said he had not heard of such an agreement, although he said it was possible it could have been made by his superiors without his knowledge.

During the Maimi Dolphina games with the New York Jets and the New England Patriots last October, players slipped and fell to the hard surface 114 times.

At that time, Reese said he would stop payments on the Poly-Turf until the firm did something about the slipping. Dolphin officials, despite later improvement of the surface, have repeatedly said they want it replaced for next season.

NHL ACTION

Goalie Crozier Aids Buffalo Triumph, 1-0

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Goalie Roger Crozier wouldn't quite go along with Joe Crozier, interim coach of the Buffalo Sabres who said the goalie stopped "shots he didn't even see" Thursday night in a 1-0 victory over the Vancouver Canucks.

But he admitted there was one shot he didn't see until the last split second and another that he "caught" between his arm and chest.

Don Luce scored the only goal of the game in the first period and R. Crozier went on to block 31 shots in achieving his second shutout of the National Hockey League season. The win moved the Sabres one point past the Canucks into sixth place in the East Division and marked the first time this season they have won two straight games.

Bill Lesuk scored 17 seconds after leaving the penalty box in the third period to give the Philadelphia Flyers a 3-2 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks in the only other NHL game. Bobby Hull scored his 34th goal of the season for the Black Hawks, who lost for only the third time this season to a Western Division opponent.

Stocks Close Lower Despite Late Rally

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock prices closed lower despite some late signs of strength in heavy trading on the New York Stock Exchange today.

After being down nearly 6 points at 2 p.m., the Dow Jones industrial average was off 2.86 at 906.44 minutes before the closing bell. The Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was off 0.26 at 103.62.

Of the 1,736 issues on the tape, declines topped advances, 843 to 572.

A major factor during the session was profit taking, which had set in late Thursday. Some analysts said the decline was overdue in view of the market's sustained rise since Thanksgiving.

Electronic and computer groups showed scattered strength. But other major stock groups generally were lower.

IBM, which gained more than 10 points Thursday, continued to attract demand. Texas Instruments was a bright spot. A spokesman for the firm said he knew of no special factor to account for the stock's activity.

Among the most active issues on the Big Board were Allegheny Power System, City Investors, Sperry Rand, Technicon and Gulf Oil.

Steels, motors, chemicals and aircrafts generally traded in fractions, as did most rails and airlines. Oils pointed in both directions but point-sized movers generally pointed lower.

In the news background, First National City Bank lowered its base lending rate to 4 5-8 per cent from 4 3-4 per cent. Banks have been holding their prime or base lending rate at 5 to 4 3-4 per cent.

The government said the cost of living index increased 0.4 per cent for December, the first full month after the wage-price freeze ended. But, the Labor Department said the cost-of-living index rose 3.4 per cent for the year, the lowest increase since 1967.

The Commerce Department, meanwhile, reported the Gross National Product rose by $19.5 billion in the final three months of 1971.

'FACES' KNOW HOW TO COOL IT

Blowing their cool? Yes, because the "angry faces" in this huddle are in the cooling business. They are cast iron housings for compressors that the York Division of Borg-Warner Corp. uses in making air conditioning and refrigeration systems with up to 60 tons of cooling capacity. Such systems, made at the York, Pa., plant, are used for comfort, storage or processing purposes in hospitals, supermarkets, breweries and food plants.

The regular quarterly cash dividend of 10 cents per share (or of five cents per share adjusted for the stock split) will be paid Feb. 7.

LOCKHEED-GEORGIA CO. has announced it will cease production soon in subassembly plants in four states because of the declining work load in the C-5 Galaxy Program. The Lockheed plant at Chattanooga has been sold; the Martinsburg, W. Va., feeder plant will be phased out in March and those in Logan, Ohio and Uniontown, Pa. in May.

BABY NEWS STORES, which has an outlet in Sjn Rafael announced total business volume for 1971 at $10.1 million — an increase of $1.9 million over 1970, approximately 24 per cent.

Tenneco Purchase Good For Income

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Will you give me your opinion on Tenneco. Would you consider it a good buy now for income? — M.B.

A. Another peak in gross revenues should be reported for 1971. For the 9 months revenues had gained 11.7 per cent while earnings were up 7 per cent reflecting an increase in shares outstanding equal to $1.42 a share. Profitability at subsidiary J. I. Case, which operated at a loss in the first half, should be further stimulated by a 5.6 per cent price hike granted by the Price Commission.

Longer term demand for natural gas should continue strong, a plus for Tenneco which derives about one-quarter of its revenues from the transportation and sale of this product. Exploration activities have been stepped up recently in the Canadian Arctic and offshore Peru. Shares which return a generous, partially tax exempt 5.2 per cent dividend income, are rated buy.

Q. In a recent column you mentioned a 7 per cent bond which returned 12 per cent current yield and 10.5 per cent to maturity. I don't understand how this is possible. I'll be looking for an explanation in a future column. — H.A.

Q. First of all let me point out that the figures as they appeared were transposed; current return should read 10.5 per cent and yield to maturity 12 per cent. The various figures on bond yields while confusing at first are really quite logical once they are explained. At originag issue price of $1,000 the bond in question did indeed return 7 per cent, since it paid $70 annually in interest. However, for various reasons, including a high-risk factor, tme re sale value of the bond declined to $667. When purchased at that price, the debenture (which still pays $70 in interest annually) returns a current yield of 10.5 per cent.

Yield to maturity is a more complex figure to work out and is generally determined by using yield tables. Suffice it to say that in addition to the 10.5 per cent current return the 12 per cent figure includes the $333 capital gain that would be realized if the bond is held 23 years to maturity.

Fuel Waste Seen

NEW YORK (UPI)—Homes built during the next 10 years will waste twice the amount of gas used to heat all the U.S. homes in 1968.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Every Dependent Claimed Must Meet Five Conditions

How many dependents can you claim?

Dependent must have received over one-half of his support from you in 1971 (or see below — multiple support agreement).

Dependent did not have over $675 income in 1971 unless the dependent was your child, foster child or stepchild under 19 years of age, or if over 19 years of age, a full time student for at least five months, in which case the dependent child can earn any amount as long as you actually provided over one-half of the cost of support.

Dependent must be a citizen of the United States or a resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico, The Republic of Panama or the Canal Zone.

Dependent must be closely related to you or by anyone else who meets requirements 1, 2, 3 and 4 above and had your home as his principal abode and was a member of your household, even if not related to you.

A foster child can now be claimed as a dependent. Status as a foster child is not dependent upon or affected by the circumstances under which the child became a member of the household, but must have been a member of the household for the entire year.

If the dependent has worked part time and earned less than $675 or was your child under 19, or over 19 and a student, and income tax was withheld from such earnings, the dependent should file a tax return to secure refund of the tax withheld.

This will in no way prevent you from also claiming the exemption for the dependent, provided, of course, that the dependent meets all five of the above conditions.

Also, if your dependent can qualify in all other ways except that you do not furnish over one-half of his support, then perhaps this will help you.

Where two or more persons contribute more than 50 per cent of the support of a dependent and each could claim the dependent except for the fact he did not contribute more than 50 per cent of the support, then one of the contributors can claim the dependent provided the taxpayer claiming the dependent contributed over 10 per cent of the support and every other one who contributed over 10 per cent to the support agrees not to claim the dependent for 1971.

An agreement, Form 2120, must be signed by each person (other than yourself) who contributed more than 10 per cent of the support of the dependent. The agreement must be filed with your return claiming the deduction for the dependent.

Preference Income Taxed At 10 Per Cent If Over $30,000

A VICTIM OF WINTER STORM

This hillside barn is a victim of a mud and rock slide which has blocked the Preston-Fall City road at Fall City, Wash. Several other state roads were blocked yesterday by mud and snow slides due to heavy rains and warmer temperatures in the mountain areas.

Reagan Boosts No-Fault Insurance

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The push in the Legislature for no-fault automobile insurance has received an important boost from Gov. Ronald Reagan, who endorsed the "concept" and pledged to support a specific now," said Assembly Democratic Floor Leader Jack R. Fenton of Montebello after the Republican governor's announcement Thursday.

Fenton introduced one major no-fault bill Tuesday. Others previously were introduced by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, and Assemblyman Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento.

Under controversial no-fault, a driver's own insurance company would pay his claim regardless of who caused the accident.

"We've been interested in this and I think there have been enough tests in the country to know that the concept does have merit," Reagan told his weekly news conference.

Reagan had cast a favorable glance at no-fault during his Jan. 6 State of the State address, but the governor's press office then cautioned newsmen he was not endorsing the concept and merely was "exploring the possibility" of such a system.

At that time Reagan said "such a system could help relieve the present overcrowded dockets in our courts" and "there is a potential for substantial savings in premiums."

Since then, a Reagan spokesman said, the governor has held "several" meetings o the subject.

Reagan said his administration is "in the midst of a study of what would be the best (system) for the people of California."

He said the study "very definitely" will be completed during the present legislative session. He added he plans to either sponsor his own bill or support another one.

"If what we finally decide is so totally different from proposals now before the Legislature then we will throw ours in the hopper with them," Reagan told newsmen.

Fenton conceded later that "my bill isn't perfect" and said "I'm receptive to suggestions from any quarters. I'm nonpartisan on this one. I just want to get a bill through."

The legislation was strenuously opposed by the Trial Lawyers' Association because, attorney Fenton contends, "if my bill went through it would affect them financially. For a lot of them (accident cases) are the bulk of their business."

Under Fenton's bill, up to $10,000 for lost wages, medical expenses or death benefits would be paid by a victim's own insurance company regardless of who caused the accident. But if the victim had more than $1,000 in medical bills or suffered permanent disfigurement or disability he could sue a negligent driver for additional damages.

Sierra Club Lauds Engineers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Sierra Club says the Army Corps of Engineers, once one of its targets, has now become a "strong second line of defense" in protecting San Francisco Bay.

Raymond J. Sherwin, president of the conservationist organization, said Thursday the corps' regulations on bay filling were a praiseworthy contribution to efforts to save the bay.

Governor's Solution To Remapping—A Computer

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan says using a non-partisan computer is the only way "honestly" to handle the embattled task of reapportioning California's legislative and congressional districts.

"I want to see an apportionment with districts that make sense," said Reagan Thursday.

"I'll tell you what I'd go for and it wouldn't have anything to do with Republicans or Democrats," he added. "There is only one way to honestly do reapportionment—to feed into the computer all the factors except political (voter) registration."

These factors would include community of interest and population, Reagan said.

"You have particular problems of the farmer, you have particular problems in the urban areas, you have large minority communities that in some instances are big enough to constitute a district themselves," he said.

Reagan also termed "just ridiculous" Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti's suggestion that the legislature postpone acting on reapportionment until after the November election.

"It would lead to the same kind of foot dragging and hassling we have had in the past," Reagan told his news conference. "I wish they'd get at it and get it done."

The governor also criticized the California Supreme Court for not "finding a method that will do away with this conflict of interest" of the legislature reapportioning itself.

Reagan, responding to criticism by fellow Republican Rep. Craig Hosmer of his veto of a congressional reapportionment bill, said the 10-term California congressman "just didn't understand the situation."

"I think he was here for two days," Reagan said. "I think he just didn't understand the situation and really understand what was going on as well as those of us who have been dealing with this for about a year."

Hosmer told Reagan in a letter last month that the veto brought the "risk of defeat" to many GOP members of the California congressional delegation.

The Living God

Anyone whose life has been touched by the healing power of divine Love, anyone whose prayers have brought a glimpse of what it means to be spirtually alive, knows from his own experience about "the living God" spoken of in the Bible. Awareness of His presence comes in different ways to each individual, but it grows only with deep prayer and study. Christian Science Reading Rooms and church services are there to help.
